March, Sitdown Due At Track

Hearing Set For Monday On Union Injunction Bid

A hearing is scheduled Monday at 9:30 a.m. at New Cumberland on a move for an injunction by Teamsters Local 412 of Youngstown against the West Virginia Racing Commission "for interfering with a strike at Waterford Park."

Joseph Condry, commission chairman, said late this morning he had not yet received notice of the hearing.

About 300 members of Teamster Local 412 and members of Local 101 of the Building Service Employes Union are planning a "march" tonight from the Junior High School in Newell to the track. Marchers are scheduled to form about 6, according to a spokesman for the building service group.

The "marchers," in cars and on foot, plan a sitdown in front of the gate at Waterford.

Meanwhile, in Pittsburgh, Charles C. Levey, international vice president of the AFL-CIO Building Service Employes Union, yesterday branded as false statements of James F. Edwards, president of the Waterford track, that a work stoppage by track employes is "a wildcat strike."

"The strike," Levey said, "was called by Local Union No. 412 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and approved by Cleveland Teamsters Joint Council 4 as well as the Teamsters' international union in Washington.

"As such," Levey asserted, "it is being fully supported by 150 pari-mutuel clerks who are members of Local 101 Race Tracks Employes of the Building Service Employes Union who refuse to cross the teamsters' picket line."

Broader Role Due For Navy In Viet War

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — An expanding role for the U.S. Navy is planned in the Vietnamese war.

About 32,000 Navy personnel now are directly or indirectly connected with the war effort here, approximately 30,000 of them with the U.S. 7th Fleet in the South China Sea.

Three months ago, U.S. destroyers and cruisers opened fire for the first time on suspected Viet Cong targets in support of the ground war. Since then Navy guns have boomed on nearly 130 missions.

The Navy has gradually increased its number of vessels on patrol along the coast, searching for Communist infiltration of men, arms and equipment by sea.

Seventeen Coast Guard cutters recently arrived to join in the sea surveillance program. Plans are under way to bring in 50 other smaller patrol boats. Twenty-five ships are on patrol in outer waters.

"I think tomorrow will be a real fruitful day for you," Detective Sgt. Ross Eckham told a reporter. He declined to be specific.

Police Maj. K.R. Herbert, coordinator of the investigation, told newsmen he felt "real progress' had been made but there had been no arrest. He refused to say whether an arrest might be imminent.

Red Losses During July Heaviest Yet

U.S. Spokesman Says Division May Have Been Lost

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. military spokesman claimed today that the Viet Cong in July suffered their heaviest casualties for a one-month period of the war and "may well have lost a division of troops."

The Communists lost 3,050 killed and 500 taken prisoner, the spokesman said, compared with 2,750 casualties in June. Vietnamese government casualties for the month were put at 3,850, including 1,335 killed in action.

No American casualty figures were given.

The spokesman said total Viet Cong losses in July may have been as high as 14,000, including defectors and wounded figures on a basis of two guerrillas wounded for each one killed. It generally is admitted, however, that estimates based on such ratios are highly speculative.

Defectors from the Viet Cong during the month totaled 4,130, the spokesman said, including 775 government troops who had previously gone over to the Viet Cong.

The spokesman said that the Viet Cong kill figure was confirmed by body county. He said enemy casualties from air strikes were included but that they, too, were confirmed by body counts on the ground, either by the Vietnamese or by the Americans. Vietnamese body counts often run higher than those by U.S. personnel.

The Viet Cong losses were an indication that the government is "carrying the fighting to the Viet Cong a little better," the spokesman said. He attributed the heavy Communist losses to a sharp increase in the number of small actions during the month in which contact was made with Viet Cong.

Government forces killed 109 guerrillas in scattered fighting Thursday and today, the spokesman reported. In the heaviest action, he said 67 Communists were killed in a sharp clash Thursday at a special forces camp at Duc Co, in Pleiku Province 215 mile northeast of Saigon.

U.S. Plane Crashes, 12 Vietnamese Killed

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A U.S. Air Force B57 Canberra bomber, crippled and derelict, crashed explosively today on a main street of Nha Trang and a U.S. spokesman said at least 12 Vietnamese civilians were killed.

The spokesman said 4 Americans and 63 Vietnamese were injured and the death toll was expected to rise because more bodies were believed to be in the smoldering debris.

Air Strikes In Viet Nam

Far From Achieving Aims, Qualified Source Asserts

For six months U.S. planes have been striking against targets in North Viet Nam. What is the result? This appraisal is by an experienced correspondent in Viet Nam who has talked to many fliers and officials connected with the attack.

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U.S. air strikes against North Viet Nam are still far from achieving their aims after six months of virtual round-the-clock action, according to the best available assessments.

"We'll need to drop a lot more bombs, and we'll have to lose increasing numbers of aircraft to get anywhere," one highly qualified source said.

U.S. Air Force and Navy planes have dropped an estimated 10,000 tons of bombs on North Viet Namese targets. About 50 U.S. aircraft have been lost.

The continuous strikes began Feb. 7.

U.S. planes first began hammering Communist installations with two goals in mind.

One was to cut the supply lines to Viet Cong troops in South Viet Nam. This included bombing of supply lines in eastern Laos with the permission of the Laotian government.

The second goal was to force the North Vietnamese regime to the conference table.

Qualified sources doubt that Viet Cong supply lines have been hurt badly.

"We have smashed their bridges, clogged their roads and sunk their barges, but none of us seriously believe that the supply effort has been hurt," a U.S. officer said. "They have proved very resourceful.

"Supplies still come through Laos down the Ho Chi Minh Trail and we can do nothing about it short of bombing acres of jungle. And the Viet Cong come in along the coast and through Cambodia almost unmolested."

There is also no sign that the goal of bringing the Communists to the conference table is any closer to achievement. The Communists have spurned U.S. offers of negotiation and overtures from other nations and U.N. Secretary-General U Thant.

The air strikes have wreaked destruction upon North Vietnamese installations.

In recent weeks U.S. Air Force planes have been hitting targets in the mountains northwest of Hanoi. Some sorties have been made to the north of the North Vietnamese capital.

Observers get the impression that U.S. strategy is to close in on Hanoi gradually. The closest air strikes to the capital have been 35 miles away.

By announced estimates 2,700 buildings have been damaged or destroyed in North Viet Nam by U.S. strikes, sometimes assisted by South Vietnamese propeller planes. About 500 bridges have been destroyed or damaged.

Peace Talks Not Hinted, Report Says

Ghanian Emissary Met With Chief Of North Viet Forces

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special message concerning Viet Nam was being sent to President Johnson today by Ghana's President Kwame Nkrumah, but there was no sign the move would quickly lead to peace talks.

Reports from Accra said that promptly after the return Thursday of a Ghanian emissary who had met with North Vietnamese chief Ho Chi Minh in Hanoi, Nkrumah dispatched his foreign minister, Alex Quaison-Sackey, with a special message from Nkrumah to Johnson.

Quaison-Sackey, president of the U.N. General Assembly, was due in New York today. U.S. sources said they expected Johnson would receive him in Washington.

While the specifics of Nkrumah's message were not available here in advance, informed sources doubted it would lead to a breakthrough in the impasse over negotiations to end the Vietmamese war.

Johnson has offered to enter into unconditional discussions with any government. Hanoi has put forward a four-point proposal including withdrawal of U.S. forces from South Viet Nam and a settlement there in accord with the Communist political program. U.S. officials said Hanoi has been vague on whether it will insist on its four points as a precondition for talks.

The Southeast Asia conflict came under National Security Council review again late Thursday. Maxwell D. Taylor, retiring after a year as ambassador at Saigon, reported to the top strategy group in closed session at the White House.

Bill D. Moyers, press secretary, said the President and the diplomatic, military and intelligence chiefs at the meeting received a briefing from Taylor similar to that which he had given Johnson the previous day.

Guarantee For Negroes

President Signs Voting Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson went to the Capitol to sign the monumental voting rights bill today and said that with this action "we strike away the last major shackles of those fierce and ancient bonds" of the Negroes.

And Johnson announced that at 1 p.m. Saturday at his direction, Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach will file suit challenging the constitutionality of the Mississippi poll tax.

"This," he said, "will begin the legal process which, I confidently believe, will very soon prohibit any state from requiring the payment of money in order to vote."

Additional poll tax suits will be filed in Texas, Alabama and Virginia Tuesday, the President said.

By Saturday, he said, the Justice Department will have certified officially places where discrimination exists.

And, he said, he has asked the department to designate by Monday morning many counties where past experience clearly shows federal action will be necessary to assure Negroes of registration as voters.

Johnson predicted that by Tuesday registration of eligible men and women will be under way in 10 to 15 counties by trained federal examiners.

Johnson chose for the ceremony the President's Room, just off the Senate chamber, where Lincoln on Aug. 6, 1861, signed into law a bill the White House said freed slaves employed by Confederates in waging the Civil War.

The President's signature will set in motion enforcement machinery already poised to guarantee Negro voting rights in broad areas of the South.

It marks Johnson's third trip up Capitol Hill to deal with the voting rights question. The first came 4½ months ago, with Negro voting demonstrations raging in Selma and pickets parading at the White House.

Before a joint session of Congress, Johnson declared:

"Every American must have an equal right to vote. There must be no delay, no hesitation, no compromise with our purpose."

The second came Wednesday night after the Senate gave final congressional approval to the measure. Johnson went then to personally congratulate its leaders.

Driver Killed In Ambridge Area Mishap

Truck Strikes Car, Pole, Claiming Life Of Charles Hudson

An Ambridge area man became Beaver County's 19th traffic fatality when he was pronounced dead Thursday night at Sewickley Valley Hospital as a result of a fractured skull he suffered when his truck went left of center on Sewickley Creek Rd., sideswiped a car and struck a utility pole.

Economy Borough police said Charles Husdon 48, of Economy Borough near Ambridge, was going east on Sewickley Creek Rd. around 8:07 when his pickup truck swerved left of center, just missed a car driven by Charles Peters of Follansbee, W. Va., and sideswiped another auto operated by Louis Shackleford of Coraopolis.

Hudson's truck then continued down the road about 100 feet, still left of center, and sheared off a utility pole.

The truck was demolished, while an estimated $350 damage resulted to the Shackleford auto, police said.

Shackleford and his wife were treated at the hospital and released.

The McCabe Funeral Home in Ambridge is in charge of arrangements for Mr. Hudson.

Children Cautioned On Gardendale Ave.

Parents of Gardendale area youngsters were advised today to caution their children against using the newly-paved section of Gardendale Ave. as a playground or for riding bicycles and wagons.

Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey pointed out the children could be involved in a serious accident with autos on the 18-foot-wide street because they would be unable to control their vehicles, particularly wagons, on the steep grade.

The danger could be more acute in winter weather if the youngsters use the street as a sled - riding track, the director warned.

No Personnel Changes Seen By Willshaw

Council President George E. Willshaw said today he plans "no changes at all" in personnel when he takes over as mayor Sept. 1 to complete the four months remaining in the term of Mayor Merrill D. Hall, who announced his resignation Wednesday night.

Willshaw said Robert E. Vodrey will continue as safety-service director, with Mrs. Phyllis Schneider as receptionist and secretary in his office and Mrs. Mary Hicks serving in a similar capacity in the director's office.

Although Hall's resignation came as a surprise to many attending the meeting of the East Liverpool Area Men's Republican Club, rumors that he would not serve out the balance of his term were rife several months ago.

Hall praised Willshaw for his cooperation and cited 30 public projects which have been completed or started in his 20 months' in office. "Give him a full term and a cooperative Council and he will give you continued growth."

U.S. officials said Hanoi has been vague on whether it will insist on its four points as a precondition for talks.

The Southeast Asia conflict came under National Security Council review again late Thursday. Maxwell D. Taylor, retiring after a year as ambassador at Saigon, reported to the top strategy group in closed session at the White House.

Bill D. Moyers, press secretary, said the President and the diplomatic, military and intelligence chiefs at the meeting received a briefing from Taylor similar to that which he had given Johnson the previous day.

Guarantee For Negroes

President Signs Voting Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson went to the Capitol to sign the monumental voting rights bill today and said that with this action "we strike away the last major shackles of those fierce and ancient bonds" of the Negroes.

And Johnson announced that at 1 p.m. Saturday at his direction, Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach will file suit challenging the constitutionality of the Mississippi poll tax.

"This," he said, "will begin the legal process which, I confidently believe, will very soon prohibit any state from requiring the payment of money in order to vote."

Additional poll tax suits will be filed in Texas, Alabama and Virginia Tuesday, the President said.

By Saturday, he said, the Justice Department will have certified officially places where discrimination exists.

And, he said, he has asked the department to designate by Monday morning many counties where past experience clearly shows federal action will be necessary to assure Negroes of registration as voters.

Johnson predicted that by Tuesday registration of eligible men and women will be under way in 10 to 15 counties by trained federal examiners.

Johnson chose for the ceremony the President's Room, just off the Senate chamber, where Lincoln on Aug. 6, 1861, signed into law a bill the White House said freed slaves employed by Confederates in waging the Civil War.

The President's signature will set in motion enforcement machinery already poised to guarantee Negro voting rights in broad areas of the South.

It marks Johnson's third trip up Capitol Hill to deal with the voting rights question. The first came 4½ months ago, with Negro voting demonstrations raging in Selma and pickets parading at the White House.

Before a joint session of Congress, Johnson declared:

"Every American must have an equal right to vote. There must be no delay, no hesitation, no compromise with our purpose."

The second came Wednesday night after the Senate gave final congressional approval to the measure. Johnson went then to personally congratulate its leaders.

Driver Killed In Ambridge Area Mishap

Truck Strikes Car, Pole, Claiming Life Of Charles Hudson

An Ambridge area man became Beaver County's 19th traffic fatality when he was pronounced dead Thursday night at Sewickley Valley Hospital as a result of a fractured skull he suffered when his truck went left of center on Sewickley Creek Rd., sideswiped a car and struck a utility pole.

Economy Borough police said Charles Husdon 48, of Economy Borough near Ambridge, was going east on Sewickley Creek Rd. around 8:07 when his pickup truck swerved left of center, just missed a car driven by Charles Peters of Follansbee, W. Va., and sideswiped another auto operated by Louis Shackleford of Coraopolis.

Hudson's truck then continued down the road about 100 feet, still left of center, and sheared off a utility pole.

The truck was demolished, while an estimated $350 damage resulted to the Shackleford auto, police said.

Shackleford and his wife were treated at the hospital and released.

The McCabe Funeral Home in Ambridge is in charge of arrangements for Mr. Hudson.

Children Cautioned On Gardendale Ave.

Parents of Gardendale area youngsters were advised today to caution their children against using the newly-paved section of Gardendale Ave. as a playground or for riding bicycles and wagons.

Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey pointed out the children could be involved in a serious accident with autos on the 18-foot-wide street because they would be unable to control their vehicles, particularly wagons, on the steep grade.

The danger could be more acute in winter weather if the youngsters use the street as a sled - riding track, the director warned.

No Personnel Changes Seen By Willshaw

Council President George E. Willshaw said today he plans "no changes at all" in personnel when he takes over as mayor Sept. 1 to complete the four months remaining in the term of Mayor Merrill D. Hall, who announced his resignation Wednesday night.

Willshaw said Robert E. Vodrey will continue as safety-service director, with Mrs. Phyllis Schneider as receptionist and secretary in his office and Mrs. Mary Hicks serving in a similar capacity in the director's office.

Although Hall's resignation came as a surprise to many attending the meeting of the East Liverpool Area Men's Republican Club, rumors that he would not serve out the balance of his term were rife several months ago.

Hall praised Willshaw for his cooperation and cited 30 public projects which have been completed or started in his 20 months' in office. "Give him a full term and a cooperative Council and he will give you continued growth."

Gosney Says Party Has Not Interfered

Rejections In Draft May Be Enormous

WASHINGTON (AP) — For those who have a sudden, personal interest in the new and bigger draft quotas, there is this thought: The odds are a shade better than even that, should your number be called, you will be rejected by the military's examiners.

This estimate is based on statistics compiled recently by the Army surgeon general's office on results of "examinations of youths for military service" last year.

During the year 1964, the report shows, 847,511 draftees were given pre-induction examinations, and 47 per cent were accepted.

Of the 53 per cent who didn't qualify, 22.2 per cent failed the medical examination; 16.2 per cent failed mental tests; 11.4 per cent were rejected because of "training ability limited;" 1.5 per cent were out because they were disqualified under both medical and mental standards; and 1.7 per cent for administrative reasons. This last group is described as those "found morally unfit."

Increase Shown In Revenue From Municipal Court

With criminal receipts continuing to show a big increase, Municipal Court's overall revenue jumped to $6,019 in July, a gain of $741 over the $5,278 received in June, Clerk Wilbur J. Harmon's monthly report disclosed today.

The court turned over $5,537 to the city treasury last month, an increase of $812 over June's $4,725.

The boost in the court's revenue again was credited to increased criminal receipts, with fines, costs and forfeitures totaling $5,206, up $1,042 over the $4,134 received in June.

The amount paid the city also included $180 in costs from civil cases and $150 as the city's share of fines in State Highway Patrol cases.

The court also distributed $150 to the state treasurer, $243 to the county treasury and $88 to the Law Library Association.

The total amount handled last month was $10,031, a gain of $1,193 over the $8,838 listed in June. The amount included $2,820 in the civil branch and $7,210 in the criminal branch.

The breakdown of cases showed: 20 civil cases filed in June, 9 disposed of, and 166 pending; 97 city criminal cases filed, 102 disposed of, and 82 pending, and 63 state criminal cases filed, 58 disposed of and 139 pending.

Fortas Denies Links With Reds In Past

WASHINGTON (AP) — Abe Fortas has denied testimony suggesting ties with communism in his past and declared his personal relationship with President Johnson would "absolutely not" interfere with his functioning as a Supreme Court justice.

The Senate Judiciary Committee, considering Johnson's nomination of Fortas to the high court, recessed Thursday after hearing two individuals testify against him, three senators strongly support him, and Fortas himself testify there is nothing in the past that could bias his judgment. The committee will meet again — and perhaps vote — Tuesday.

Marjorie Shearon of Chevy Chase, Md., publisher of a weekly called Challenge to Socialism, told the committee Fortas "has been significantly connected with Communists and Communist fronts....His connections were neither trivial nor casual, and I doubt if they were innocent."

Mrs. Shearon specifically said Fortas formerly had been a member of the National Committee of the International Juridical Association, which she described as "an international organization of lawyers set up by Moscow to help Communists when they got in trouble."

Work Will Begin On Improving Of Hancock Roads

Work is scheduled to get under way next week on the controversial Cemetery Hill Rd. and Hardins Run Rd. improvement project, C. Manley Howard of Moundsville, District 1 engineer of the West Virginia State Road Commission, has announced.

A total of $70,000 has been appropriated by the SRC to widen and pave the roads, the work to begin as soon as equipment can be sent in, Howard said.

The information was released following a final inspection of the site Thursday by Howard and other SRC officials, including Walter Batalo of Weirton, state road maintenance supervisor for Hancock County.

The SRC official said plans call for widening of the entire road from its junction at State Rt. 2 in New Cumberland to the top of the Cemetery Hill Rd., where it runs into Ridge Rd. on New Cumberland Heights.

The public's attention was first drawn to the poor condition of Cemetery Hill Rd. in July 1963 when a group of women from the New Cumberland Heights area took up picks and shovels and attempted to make improvements.

Efforts of the residents, numbering about 150, aroused concern from the SRC and other state and county officials.

Tax Monies Distributed

LISBON — Schools received $836,380 of the $1,053,040 advance tax settlement made this week by Columbiana County Auditor Kenneth Bell.

The final tax settlement would be made some time in September, Bell said.

The advance settlement—first advance on the real estate tax collection — represented two-thirds of the amount collected as of July 15, Bell said. Last year's figure was $1,646,560.

Checks totaling $134,460 went to villages and cities. Townships received $82,200.

The breakdown follows:

Schools: Lisbon, $71,000; East Liverpool, $109,550; Salem, $94,450; East Palestine, $75,800; Beaver Local, $67,650; Columbiana, $61,460; Fairfield - Waterford, $59,950; Leetonia, $47,300; United, $66,750; Wellsville, $64,100; Southern Local, $29,800; Minerva Local, $24,000; Alliance, $1,020, and West Branch, $66,550.

Crash Hurts Motorist, 72

A 72-year-old East Palestine area man was in "fair" condition today at Salem City Hospital with injuries suffered when his car and another collided head-on on Route 14 at Unity Thursday afternoon.

Sinatra, Actress Don't Deny They Plan To Marry

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Singer Frank Sinatra and actress Mia Farrow are making no attempt to quash rumors that they are about to marry.

Before a crowd of onlookers at the town wharf, Sinatra greeted the 19-year-old actress with a kiss when she returned from a shopping trip Thursday.

They walked along the deck of a launch, each with an arm about the other, before the ride out to the luxury yacht on which they have been vacationing. The 168-foot Southern Breeze was anchored about 500 yards offshore in Edgartown Harbor.

Shortly afterward, the Southern Breeze lifted anchor and moved to the dockside, where the 49-year-old Sinatra, posed with Miss Farrow for photographers.

The singer turned away all questions about whether the couple will marry, or are already married.

Work Will Begin On Improving Of Hancock Roads

Work is scheduled to get under way next week on the controversial Cemetery Hill Rd. and Hardins Run Rd. improvement project, C. Manley Howard of Moundsville, District 1 engineer of the West Virginia State Road Commission, has announced.

A total of $70,000 has been appropriated by the SRC to widen and pave the roads, the work to begin as soon as equipment can be sent in, Howard said.

The information was released following a final inspection of the site Thursday by Howard and other SRC officials, including Walter Batalo of Weirton, state road maintenance supervisor for Hancock County.

The SRC official said plans call for widening of the entire road from its junction at State Rt. 2 in New Cumberland to the top of the Cemetery Hill Rd., where it runs into Ridge Rd. on New Cumberland Heights.

The public's attention was first drawn to the poor condition of Cemetery Hill Rd. in July 1963 when a group of women from the New Cumberland Heights area took up picks and shovels and attempted to make improvements.

Efforts of the residents, numbering about 150, aroused concern from the SRC and other state and county officials.

EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW

The Mayor Steps Out

Though rumors had been heard from time to time that he might take such action, Mayor Merrill D. Hall's resignation Wednesday night caught most East Liverpool residents by surprise.

Mr. Hall, who did not seek re-election, had only a few months to go to complete his term. While not going into detail, he pointed to lack of cooperation and interference from "outsiders" in his efforts to operate the municipal government.

The mayor was not a politician and made no pretense of being one — although it should be pointed out that whether intentional or not he didn't hurt the Republican party any in the manner in which he is stepping out and moving George Willshaw, the GOP nominee for mayor in November, into office before the election.

Mr. Hall entered the city's No. 1 office after years of service in the East Liverpool school system. He has been involved in some bickering with the Democratic Council and it could be that the in-fighting that goes with politics was not to his liking. This is understandable in the case of one who has endeavored to do a conscientious job in a position to which he was elected.

Friend and foe alike, with few exceptions, respected the man who will quit as mayor Sept. 1. There was no question of his sincerity in attempting to serve the city to the best of his ability and to advance its best interests.

One of the big drawbacks to politics is that it seems to be fashioned primarily for politicians. Those who don't think as politicians find the road of public service rugged, demanding and often frustrating.

It is to be hoped that Mr. Hall's experience doesn't cause those who are not political - minded but who are definitely civic-minded to give up any plans they might have of seeking office with the feeling that they can serve the community in which they reside.

State Sovereignty? Where?

If anyone is so naive as to believe that the 50 states which make up the United States of America have retained any significant vestiges of the sovereign status granted them by the Constitution, he need only be reminded of two incursions current in the Congress:

1. Banning of state right-to-work laws by repeal of Section 14b of the Taft-Hartley Act, passed by the House and heading for a vote in the Senate.

2. Failure of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Illinois, to muster a required two-thirds Senate majority to submit to the states his proposed constitutional amendment permitting one house of a state legislature to be apportioned on a basis other than population.

Both of these issues, in our opinion, are matters for state determination. In no way that we can think of do they have interstate overtones.

We have every confidence that the legislatures of the states, or the people themselves, are perfectly capable of making an intelligent evaluation of these matters. They don't need the dictatorial interference, or even the help, of the would-be federal overlords along the Potomac.

NINETEEN STATES, for example, have right-to-work laws. If the legislatures or the people of these states are unhappy with an individual's right to join or not join a union, as he chooses, they have a perfect right to repeal their own laws.

Ohioans voted overwhelmingly against a right-to-work law in 1958. This was their privilege and no one is about to dispute the legal status of organized labor in this state. Only last year the Indiana legislature repealed that state's right-to-work law. Likewise, the issue there is settled.

Other states have the same right — to repeal, or not to repeal. We don't see it as any of the federal government's business. If right-to-work laws give some states an advantage in enticing new industry, as Rep. Charles A. Mosher, R-Ohio, suggests, more power to them. We always thought it was government's role to promote competition, not stifle it.

ALONG COMES Sen. Dirksen with a perfectly logical proposal to permit the people of each state to decide whether one house of their legislature can be apportioned on the basis of geography and senators would buy it, thanks to the illogical arguments of Sen. Dirksen's colleague, Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Illinois.

Mind you, Sen. Dirksen did not suggest, in his constitutional amendment proposal, that states be required to reapportion one house on a basis other than population. He did not even propose that the various state legislatures decide the issue.

His amendment would authorize the people to decide.

This, of course, was obnoxious to some senators.

The very idea that people would know more about how to run their own business than a United States senator in Washington.

Preposterous!

So on and we go, with Uncle Sam taking over all the decision-making and the people be damned.

In time, it would appear the states will have but one function:

Keep the income taxes rolling in to the Washington spenders!

Not By Medical Men

American doctors eventually may learn to take the medicare pill and like it but many of them are having some dark thoughts about another bitter pill.

In a recent directive from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, doctors are required to sign a pledge Rights Act of 1964 and not practice discrimination among welfare patients.

The Ohio State Medical Association complains that such a requirement is making "second - class citizens" of Ohio physicians, about 4,900 of whom have signed the oath.

The state medical association's proposal that doctors be permitted to make an oral promise to abide by the law was turned down by HEW. Now the state department is in the middle for it must apply the regulation to the doctors working with it in order to qualify for government monies.

The action could be a case of bureaucratic retaliation against the American Medical Association for its opposition to medicare or just another incident of political meddling.

It would seem that the ancient Oath of Hippocrates to which all licensed physicians subscribe would be sufficient in the case of the doctors, but what can we expect — after all ours is government by politicians, not medical men.

Dear Truman Twill:

Recent ads about how quiet some of the new autos are when being driven with the windows closed calls to mind an old safety tip that at least the window by the driver should be opened an inch or two so outside warning sounds could be heard.

This also might apply to air-conditioned cars which are driven with the windows closed.

The driver should always be able to hear such things as horns, train whistles, bells at rail crossings and passing cars. Don't box yourelf in too much, Twill.

Someone sometime should make a survey of how much our American way of life depends upon volunteer workers.

First thing that comes to mind is the United Fund and Community Chest, things of that sort, but that is only the beginning.

Take for instance volunteer firemen, even if some of them do get paid something for some of their work.

There are a zillion service clubs of every variety which form an important part of the fabric of our civilization (some of the verbiage in a high-class magazine I was reading must have rubbed off on me).

Hospitals, community centers, settlement houses, little theaters, speakers bureaus, every civic undertaking, schools and air defense corps have thousands and thousands of volunteer workers for whom pay could not be provided.

We were talking awhile ago about Sweden switching the driving of autos from the lefthand side of the road as in England to the right side as in the United States.

I forgot to tell you about an American woman I know who tried driving in England and couldn't stay out of the middle of the road because she always thought the left side of the car was going to scrape a fence or go off the road if she kept the car on the left side of the road where it belonged.

It is all a matter of habit and perspective, eh Twill?

All of this talk of modern affluence and poverty reminds me of a couple of financially successful men I once knew.

One of them questioned the advisability of clipping papers together in an envelope to be mailed because the paperclip might be heavy enough to require more postage on the letter.

This was the same fellow, a former bookkeeper, who would walk off with your pencil if you weren't watching. He must have had trunks full of "borrowed" pencils.

The other man was a wealthy retired mechanical whiz who had headed departments in giant corporations. He discovered the hardware department in a dime store and was as happy as a kid in an ice cream factory. He was glutted with hand augurs, clamps, angle irons and nuts and bolts.

You don't hardly meet people like that no more.

Faithfully yours,

How We Can Beat The Communists

By Victor Riesel

CARPINA, Brazil

On any clear day diners in the air-conditioned, 12-story skyscraper restaurant some 27 miles distant in the huge city of Recife can see well into this desolate area where unemployed peasants and jobless sugar mill workers eat a glorified sawdust called farinha.

Victor Riesel

It has no color, no taste, no food value. But it fills the stomach because it is bulky ground-up root. And for a few hours it keeps children from whimpering for food.

Occasionally fortune strikes. Some of the 220,000 hungry people whose breadwinners are jobless come onto beans or molasses or edible ants and then the farinha stew does have a taste.

It's so not only around Carpina, a long jeep ride from Recife, the massive metropolis of Brazil's frontier Northeast where cowboys still ride in leather hats. Hunger stalks 28 million people in this bulge — three times the size of France.

JAMMED IN strips between the ocean and the dried out mountains, ravaged regularly by lethal flash floods, it's the "India" of the Western world. It's made to order for the Maoists, the Moscovites, the Trotskyites and the Fidelistas. They all were here before the military revolution, organizing their peasant leagues, spreading hatred against the U.S. and preparing for "the day."

But these peasants and workers have no stomachs — empty as they are — for hatred. The other day some 75 of them cheered this reporter simply because the visitor is from the U.S. They have seen only a handful of Americans — and in that handful is a dramatic story which proves we can win even the saddened and the hungry, even the mothers and fathers of naked children, over to freedom's side and keep the Communists from exploiting their misery.

Among the few Americans who have come to this desolation are the small band of men who have given up the ease of living in the States to come here as a sort of U.S. labor-management private peace corps. They make up the team of the local American Institute for Free Labor Development (AIFLD), of which AFL-CIO President George Meany is intercontinental chairman.

HIS SUPPORT comes not only from American labor but from such corporations as Pan American World Airways and General Motors, who want nothing more than to develop skilled and knowledgeable labor officials to stave off Communist infiltration and to feed the starving.

I drove out to Carpina, for here the AIFLD will build the first of 10 regional "centros servicos camponeses" — centers to service the rural working people. Each will be a union headquarters costing about $25,000 apiece. Each will be constructed with the assistance of the U.S. AID mission.

From these centers special services will radiate into the surrounding countryside. Each headquarters will have movies and a big room to which the workers can come to socialize. Each will have a legal adviser. There will be a clinic staffed three days a week with a doctor, a nurse and a dentist, so perhaps children won't die as quickly as they do.

THERE WILL BE "kiddie" playgrounds and a spot for the women to gather and learn crafts if they have the time. There will be credit unions, joint consumer buying to lower the cost of food, land leasing associations and finally an office for planning of rural low cost housing.

This is essentially a union-to-union approach. In a broad sense, the Communist party used this technique in Italy. Had democratic forces gotten there "fustest with the mostest," as AIFLD is doing here, the Italian Communist party would not now be rolling up nine million votes.

But man here cannot live on dreams alone. There must be food. And the Catholic Relief Services has been getting food from the Food For Peace agency back home. It is shipped to Recife under Public Law 480. Then it rolls out into the countryside. But this takes trucks and the big vans cost money. So AIFLD has appropriated the funds to carry the food to the hungry families — 600 tons in this district alone.

In a primitive meeting hall we told them more victuals were coming. And perhaps some free medicine, too.

A peasant worker, barefooted but in a clean Sunday shirt, said slowly in his native Portuguese:

"We want no charity. Give us work."

There were tears in his voice. The visitor wept a bit, too, as he headed out of the white hot sun for the air conditioning and tower restaurants of what we euphemistically call civilization.

Lightning

Electronic detectors are being tested by the United States Forest Service's northern forest fire laboratory at Missoula, Mont. The detectors pick up an electromagnetic field, such as a lightning bolt, and by triangulation locate lightning strike areas in forests.

Alerted foresters then fly over the area in planes equipped with infrared scanners that detect the heat of small fires the lightning may have started. The infrared scanning technique enables foresters to detect fires at night when a telltale column of smoke cannot easily be seen. Since thunderstorm activity reaches a peak in late afternoon, fires often are not detected until the following day.

The forest fire scientists are conducting basic research into lightning, whose causes and even characteristics remain largely unknown, the National Geographic Society says. Experiments indicate that there are different kinds of lightning, some more dangerous than others. Long bolts lasting as much as a second may cause more fires than strokes of shorter duration.

Blow To Disobedience

By David Lawrence

Judge Johnson's Ruling Reviewed

To those clergymen who have been teaching civil disobedience or who have been engaging in sit-ins and lie-ins and other demonstrations that have blocked traffic and produced disorder in Northern as well as Southern cities, a decision just rendered by U. S. District Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr., may come as a surprise.

David Lawrence

For this federal judge has just ruled that civil disobedience under the guise of civil rights must be prosecuted. He made this ruling in connection with the cases of 167 demonstrators arrested last March in Montgomery, Ala. Their attorneys had tried to appeal the cases to the federal court, but Judge Johnson sent them back to the local courts as being within their jurisdiction.

Police authorities throughout the country who have been told they must not arrest demonstrators, no matter what they do, will doubtless be heartened by Judge Johnson's decision. The judge pointed out that when vehicular traffic on the streets and pedestrian traffic on the sidewalks are blocked, it's the duty of the police to carry out their responsibilities under the law.

JUDGE JOHNSON declared that there is no consitutional or statutory right which prohibits arrest and prosecution for conduct such as the racial demonstrators had been engaged in prior to and at the time they were arrested. He said in his written decision:

"There is no immunity conferred by our Constitution and laws of the United States to those individuals who insist upon practicing civil disobedience under the guise of demonstrating and protesting for 'civil rights.' The philosophy that a person may, if his cause is labeled 'civil rights' or 'states' rights, determine for himself what laws and court decisions are morally right or wrong and either obey or refuse to obey them according to his own determination is a philosophy that is foreign to our 'rule of law' theory of government.

"Those who resort to civil disobedience such as the petitioners were engaged in prior to and at the time they were arrested cannot and should not escape arrest and prosecution. Civil disobedience by 'civil-rights workers' in the form of 'going limp' and lying or marching in the streets or upon the sidewalks, or marching around the city hall while night court was in session singing 'freedom' songs, or taking to the streets to do their parading and picketing in lieu of using the sidewalks, while failing to make any application to city authorities for a parade permit, is still a violation of the law and subjects the violators to being prosecuted in the courts of the cities and states where such occurs.

"THESE PETITIONERS and others so inclined must come to recognize that judicial processes are available for the purpose of protecting their constitutional rights in this district. . . .

"However, demonstrations and protests in a disorderly and unpeaceful and unlawful manner are not sanctioned by the law as this court understands it. There is a place in our system for citizens, both Negro and white, who wish to protest civil rights or present grievances against violations of their rights to do so, provided they act in a peaceful and orderly manner and provided they resort to the courts and not to the streets when they are thwarted in the exercise of this privilege by authorities acting under cover of law."

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., is one of the leaders in the crusade to stimulate demonstrations on racial questions throughout the country, and he has said again and again that a citizen does not have to obey an "unjust" law. The same sentiment has been expressed by many white clergymen who are sincerely convinced that a law which is morally unjust in the minds of the citizens can be disobeyed or disregarded.

SOME CLERGYMEN point to instances mentioned in the Bible when individuals defied the established authorities. But in ancient times there were no systems of law like there are now to provide redress for the grievances of the citizens. No constitutional system existed such as an American enjoys today, which gives individuals the right to elect their own representatives, who then make the laws.

Judge Johnson is one of the outstanding judges on the bench, and he has dealt with segregation cases impartially by ruling in each case according to the law as he sees it. He was appointed by President Eisenhower in 1955.

Judge Johnson's decision would have occasioned no surprise whatsoever a decade ago. Since that time the demonstrations on racial questions have been sponsored by groups which have insisted that this is the only way to dramatize grievances and get attention and that, because the objective is worthy, laws need not be obeyed.

It was precisely this mistaken concept that used to motivate the Klans and gangs which seized prisoners accused of murder and lynched them, crying: "They're guilty anyhow — why wait for the courts?"

Dirksen Made Good Try

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

He made a good try — and he said he'll try again — but the attempt of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois to undo what the Supreme Court did on reapportionment got nowhere, which is not unusual.

Dissatisfied people in and out of Congress have been trying to curb the court, rebuke it, or change its decisions throughout its 175-year history, and never more than in recent years.

Those attempts must have run into the thousands. Very few succeeded. And most of the changes or reversals in the court's decisions have been made by the court itself.

Nevertheless state governors, legislatures, members of Congress, associations, groups and individuals with placards and petitions have demanded change.

Luckly for the court, this is what happened most of the time:

There was seldom a united demand for change. Instead, the cries of pain usually came from one group at a time, each in turn as it felt its own special interests injured.

Dirksen, leader of the Senate Republicans, had a lot of company from politicians — although, as it turned out, not enough — in his protest against the court's memorable 1964 decision.

Following its one man, one vote doctrine, the court said members of both houses of a state legislature must be elected on a basis of equal representation for the people making up a state population.

This meant fewer politicians from the rural districts, with their dwindling populations, would sit in state legislatures because the old apportionment plans had become unreal and unfair as more people moved to the cities.

Dirksen tried to get the Senate to approve a proposed constitutional amendment which could cut the court decision in half by letting each state decide how members of at least one house in a legislature should be elected.

The Senate turned him down Wednesday.

While the court's legislative apportionment decision had caused a lot of pain this was nothing compared with the outraged cries after the court's rulings in 1954, 1962 and 1964.

In 1954 it banned segregation public schools and in 1962 and 1965 it banned compulsory official prayers or Bible reading in public schools. Attempts were made to undo these rulings, too, and they got nowhere.

There were times when protests and dissatisfaction counted.

In 1895 the court declared an income tax unconstitutional. But the country needed revenue and in 1913, which was 18 years later, the nation adopted the 16th Amendment making the income tax constitutional.

And in the early 1930s the highly conservative court of those days went so far in knocking out New Deal legislation that President Franklin D. Roosevelt asked Congress in 1937 to approve a "court-packing" plan to add more justices.

The Mayor Steps Out

Though rumors had been heard from time to time that he might take such action, Mayor Merrill D. Hall's resignation Wednesday night caught most East Liverpool residents by surprise.

Mr. Hall, who did not seek re-election, had only a few months to go to complete his term. While not going into detail, he pointed to lack of cooperation and interference from "outsiders" in his efforts to operate the municipal government.

The mayor was not a politician and made no pretense of being one — although it should be pointed out that whether intentional or not he didn't hurt the Republican party any in the manner in which he is stepping out and moving George Willshaw, the GOP nominee for mayor in November, into office before the election.

Mr. Hall entered the city's No. 1 office after years of service in the East Liverpool school system. He has been involved in some bickering with the Democratic Council and it could be that the in-fighting that goes with politics was not to his liking. This is understandable in the case of one who has endeavored to do a conscientious job in a position to which he was elected.

Friend and foe alike, with few exceptions, respected the man who will quit as mayor Sept. 1. There was no question of his sincerity in attempting to serve the city to the best of his ability and to advance its best interests.

One of the big drawbacks to politics is that it seems to be fashioned primarily for politicians. Those who don't think as politicians find the road of public service rugged, demanding and often frustrating.

It is to be hoped that Mr. Hall's experience doesn't cause those who are not political - minded but who are definitely civic-minded to give up any plans they might have of seeking office with the feeling that they can serve the community in which they reside.

State Sovereignty? Where?

If anyone is so naive as to believe that the 50 states which make up the United States of America have retained any significant vestiges of the sovereign status granted them by the Constitution, he need only be reminded of two incursions current in the Congress:

1. Banning of state right-to-work laws by repeal of Section 14b of the Taft-Hartley Act, passed by the House and heading for a vote in the Senate.

2. Failure of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Illinois, to muster a required two-thirds Senate majority to submit to the states his proposed constitutional amendment permitting one house of a state legislature to be apportioned on a basis other than population.

Both of these issues, in our opinion, are matters for state determination. In no way that we can think of do they have interstate overtones.

We have every confidence that the legislatures of the states, or the people themselves, are perfectly capable of making an intelligent evaluation of these matters. They don't need the dictatorial interference, or even the help, of the would-be federal overlords along the Potomac.

NINETEEN STATES, for example, have right-to-work laws. If the legislatures or the people of these states are unhappy with an individual's right to join or not join a union, as he chooses, they have a perfect right to repeal their own laws.

Ohioans voted overwhelmingly against a right-to-work law in 1958. This was their privilege and no one is about to dispute the legal status of organized labor in this state. Only last year the Indiana legislature repealed that state's right-to-work law. Likewise, the issue there is settled.

Other states have the same right — to repeal, or not to repeal. We don't see it as any of the federal government's business. If right-to-work laws give some states an advantage in enticing new industry, as Rep. Charles A. Mosher, R-Ohio, suggests, more power to them. We always thought it was government's role to promote competition, not stifle it.

ALONG COMES Sen. For this federal judge has just ruled that civil disobedience under the guise of civil rights must be prosecuted. He made this ruling in connection with the cases of 167 demonstrators arrested last March in Montgomery, Ala. Their attorneys had tried to appeal the cases to the federal court, but Judge Johnson sent them back to the local courts as being within their jurisdiction.

Police authorities throughout the country who have been told they must not arrest demonstrators, no matter what they do, will doubtless be heartened by Judge Johnson's decision. The judge pointed out that when vehicular traffic on the streets and pedestrian traffic on the sidewalks are blocked, it's the duty of the police to carry out their responsibilities under the law.

JUDGE JOHNSON declared that there is no consitutional or statutory right which prohibits arrest and prosecution for conduct such as the racial demonstrators had been engaged in prior to and at the time they were arrested. He said in his written decision:

"There is no immunity conferred by our Constitution and laws of the United States to those individuals who insist upon practicing civil disobedience under the guise of demonstrating and protesting for 'civil rights.' The philosophy that a person may, if his cause is labeled 'civil rights' or 'states' rights, determine for himself what laws and court decisions are morally right or wrong and either obey or refuse to obey them according to his own determination is a philosophy that is foreign to our 'rule of law' theory of government.

"Those who resort to civil disobedience such as the petitioners were engaged in prior to and at the time they were arrested cannot and should not escape arrest and prosecution. Civil disobedience by 'civil-rights workers' in the form of 'going limp' and lying or marching in the streets or upon the sidewalks, or marching around the city hall while night court was in session singing 'freedom' songs, or taking to the streets to do their parading and picketing in lieu of using the sidewalks, while failing to make any application to city authorities for a parade permit, is still a violation of the law and subjects the violators to being prosecuted in the courts of the cities and states where such occurs.

"THESE PETITIONERS and others so inclined must come to recognize that judicial processes are available for the purpose of protecting their constitutional rights in this district. . . .

"However, demonstrations and protests in a disorderly and unpeaceful and unlawful manner are not sanctioned by the law as this court understands it. There is a place in our system for citizens, both Negro and white, who wish to protest civil rights or present grievances against violations of their rights to do so, provided they act in a peaceful and orderly manner and provided they resort to the courts and not to the streets when they are thwarted in the exercise of this privilege by authorities acting under cover of law."

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., is one of the leaders in the crusade to stimulate demonstrations on racial questions throughout the country, and he has said again and again that a citizen does not have to obey an "unjust" law. The same sentiment has been expressed by many white clergymen who are sincerely convinced that a law which is morally unjust in the minds of the citizens can be disobeyed or disregarded.

SOME CLERGYMEN point to instances mentioned in the Bible when individuals defied the established authorities. But in ancient times there were no systems of law like there are now to provide redress for the grievances of the citizens. No constitutional system existed such as an American enjoys today, which gives individuals the right to elect their own representatives, who then make the laws.

Judge Johnson is one of the outstanding judges on the bench, and he has dealt with segregation cases impartially by ruling in each case according to the law as he sees it. He was appointed by President Eisenhower in 1955.

Judge Johnson's decision would have occasioned no surprise whatsoever a decade ago. Since that time the demonstrations on racial questions have been sponsored by groups which have insisted that this is the only way to dramatize grievances and get attention and that, because the objective is worthy, laws need not be obeyed.

It was precisely this mistaken concept that used to motivate the Klans and gangs which seized prisoners accused of murder and lynched them, crying "They're guilty anyhow — why wait for the courts?"

Dirksen Made Good Try

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

He made a good try — and he said he'll try again — but the attempt of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois to undo what the Supreme Court did on reapportionment got nowhere, which is not unusual.

Dissatisfied people in and out of Congress have been trying to curb the court, rebuke it, or change its decisions throughout its 175-year history, and never more than in recent years.

Those attempts must have run into the thousands. Very few succeeded. And most of the changes or reversals in the court's decisions have been made by the court itself.

Nevertheless state governors, legislatures, members of Congress, associations, groups and individuals with placards and petitions have demanded change.

Luckly for the court, this is what happened most of the time.

There was seldom a united demand for change. Instead, the cries of pain usually came from one group at a time, each in turn as it felt its own special interests injured.

Dirksen, leader of the Senate Republicans, had a lot of company from politicians — although, as it turned out, not enough — in his protest against the court's memorable 1964 decision.

Following its one man, one vote doctrine, the court said members of both houses of a state legislature must be elected on a basis of equal representation for the people making up a state population.

This meant fewer politicians from the rural districts, with their dwindling populations, would sit in state legislatures because the old apportionment plans had become unreal and unfair as more people moved to the cities.

Dirksen tried to get the Senate to approve a proposed constitutional amendment which could cut the court decision in half by letting each state decide how members of at least one house in a legislature should be elected.

The Senate turned him down Wednesday.

While the court's legislative apportionment decision had caused a lot of pain this was nothing compared with the outraged cries after the court's rulings in 1954, 1962 and 1964.

In 1954 it banned segregation public schools and in 1962 and 1965 it banned compulsory official prayers or Bible reading in public schools. Attempts were made to undo these rulings, too, and they got nowhere.

There were times when protests and dissatisfaction counted.

In 1895 the court declared an income tax unconstitutional. But the country needed revenue and in 1913, which was 18 years later, the nation adopted the 16th Amendment making the income tax constitutional.

And in the early 1930s the highly conservative court of those days went so far in knocking out New Deal legislation that President Franklin D. Roosevelt asked Congress in 1937 to approve a "court-packing" plan to add more justices.

Missing Girls Found, Returned To Parents

LISBON — Two area girls, reported missing in separate reports Thursday, were found and returned to their respective parents, the sheriff's department said today.

A 17-year-old Columbiana girl missing for 8½ house was found last night at 7:30 by a Columbiana couple motoring along a highway. Scores of searchers were looking for the girl, who reportedly had been mowing the lawn for her parents when last seen.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Firestone of Columbiana R.D. 2, discovered the girl as she was walking along a highway after hearing reports of a missing girl. They returned the girl to her parents.

A 15-year-old Minerva girl reported missing Thursday afternoon was located in Lisbon. She was turned over to local authorities, who returned her to her parents early today.

1,400 Reported Killed

LONDON (AP) — A Roman Catholic weekly reported today that more than 1,400 persons were killed last month in the South Sudan in clashes between Arab government troops and Negro residents and in a general massacre July 8.

Quoting a Sudanese priest identified only as Father Joseph, the British Catholic weekly Universe said:

"The Arabs rose against the Negroes in every town of the south on the night of July 8 without warning. Innocent people were hunted down like wild beasts and either shot or tied in sacks which were then set afire."

Gosney

by "outside" interests was one of the reasons that motivated his decision to leave office Sept. 1.

This caused political observers to feel that he was aiming some of his remarks at the Democrats.

Don R. Gosney of Columbiana, county Democratic chairman, said today that if the mayor was referring to his party in his statement, it was so much "hogwash."

Gosney said the county organization has successfully cooperated with the city in the past to obtain certain programs, but has not exerted any controlling influence.

"This is a political manuever on the part of local Republicans in a desperate attempt to elect a mayor," Gosney said. "As to the idea that any Democratic councilman is under any influence from the county Democratic organization, this is a lot of hogwash.

"We in the county Democratic party are always trying to cooperate with cities and villages and other citizens to make this county a better place in which to live.

"We cooperated with the local Council in helping it get federal aid for the St. Clair Ave. project and to get Route 11 started in East Liverpool," he declared. "We are trying to cooperate with both Democrats and Republicans to get the city a new post office."

The county chairman said, "These political shenanigans will fail, and Robert Owen will be elected in November."

"I have always respected Mr. Hall as a man, but cannot understand why he would resign with only a few months left in the term to which he was elected."

"As the old man in Missouri (President Truman) once said, if you can't stand the heat in the kitchen, I guess you'll have to get out."

Mayors Get More Details About Low-Cost Housing

An informal explanation on the availability of low - cost housing for senior citizens in the county's six small villages under 2,500 population was offered by two officials of the Farmers Administration during the meeting of the Columbiana County Mayors Association Thursday night at City Hall.

Lawrence Young of Columbus, real estate loan officer in the state office of the federal agency, and Robert McClester of Carrollton, head of the district office embracing Columbiana, Jefferson, Carroll and Mahoning Counties, explained the program and answered questions.

The purpose is to make low-cost housing available in all areas so that residents will not have to be uprooted. The officials pointed out the primary difference in the rural and metropolitan programs is that in rural areas the low - cost housing may be owned privately while in the urban program for communities over 2,500 the housing is owned by the government.

The meeting was arranged by Mayor Merrill D. Hall, with Council President George E. Willshaw, who will succeed Hall as mayor on Sept. 1, sitting in.

County Commissioners Frank Wilson, R. Max Gard and James Boyd along with 8 of the 13 mayors in the county attended.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: I made the best-yet cover for my rolling pin!

I tied a knot at the ankle of a clean, old nylon stocking, cut off the foot, and inserted the rolling pin in the leg part. Then I pulled the nylon as taut as possible, tied a knot in the other end, and cut off the excess.

It's a breeze to wash it — dries much faster than the usual cotton covers — and, since it's for free, I can replace it any time I want to.

BLANCHE.

HI FRIEND HELOISE: Do you like a comfortable, easy-fitting housecoat or duster?

Choose a coat pattern of simple lines, and leave out the lining.

And, for material — I go to drapery department sales and buy heavy quality cottons, etc. They wear so long, and look real elegant.

I also find that a few corsage pins are a big help when sewing.

They pin a pattern on materials especially well, are easily seen, and on heavy or nappy fabrics they are the best.

MILDRED.

DEAR HELOISE: Three cheers for good, old, versatile nylon net. As we grow older, we tend to dry out, but (Thank Heavens) we don't blow away ....

So the rough, dry skin remains.

However, may I remind you this is where your King Nylon enters, conquers and devours. In bathing, nothing works better for scrubbing elbows and heels.

M.T.

And, dear M.T., if you sew a piece of that nylon net on one side of an old terry cloth wash rag, you will be surprised how much easier it is to bathe! The net does the scrubbing, and the cloth holds the soap suds and does the rinsing.

And, try it for washing rings from that bathtub!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Perhaps others might like to do as I plan to do for my two daughters' first anniversary gifts this year. (The first anniversary is paper, you know.)

I'm going to type copies of your hints from the newspaper, and put them in loose leaf binders, using an index system: "Washing hints", "Spots", "Different rooms", "Baby care", etc. (This could also be done with a recipe file box instead of a binder). And, I can add to it.

Another thing I plan to do for their first anniversary: I will have copies made of the nicest snapshots ... those of grandparents, relatives, parents' wedding, baby pictures, first Communion, graduation, proms, and all those things which make up a treasured family history, and put them in an album.

MRS. F.T.

DEAR HELOISE: To avoid loss of film sent for processing, I always paste an address label on the roll before putting it in the container jar for mailing.

MRS. B. REYNOLDS.

DEAR HELOISE: My little boy went to a birthday party yesterday where hot dogs were served. My young'un managed to get mustard on his good shirt. What can I do to remove it???

SPOTTY'S MOM.

DEAR MOM: Saturate the spot with warm glycerin, let it set a while, then wash the shirt in soapsuds to which a small amount of alcohol has been added.

If the stain is not entirely removed, apply oxalic acid (10 per cent solution) with a medicine dropper, rinse thoroughly, then follow with a rinse of one teaspoon of ammonia to one pint of water.

Be sure to SPOT TEST to see if it's safe for your particular fabric and to READ CAUTIONS on the containers.

HELOISE.

Girls: Some of my readers have shown concern about the recent "Letter of Laughter" I printed from a reader — about her putting her feet in ice water in order to stay cool while ironing.

I realized this wasn't conventional, but the Electrical Engineering Department of the District of Columbia told me that they had never heard of anyone receiving a severe shock while ironing (with an iron which is in good condition) because of the plastic or wooden handles and the required insulation of the electrical elements inside the iron. However, they agreed that a defective iron could give you a shock.

The Division of Accident Prevention of the U. S. Department of Health discussed this problem with the National Electrical Manufacturers Association. It came up with this answer to the question as to whether there was an increased hazard because of the feet soaking in a tub of water if a "short" occurs in an electrical appliance:

"No, (in a plastic tub) unless water spills onto a conductive material and establishes a ground. A metal bucket, however, if touching a radiator, water pipe or other ground would greatly increase the shock hazard."

Soooo...since I love you all... play it safe...don't cool your feet in a pan of water until you have finished your ironing.

Electricity and water do not mix!

President Says Jobless Rate Still Far Too High

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the unemployment rate has dropped to an eight-year low of 4.5 per cent of the labor force, President Johnson says it is still far too high—particularly among teen-agers and Negroes.

Johnson issued his statement, in which he expressed pleasure over the general improvement in the employment situation, after the Labor Department issued its July figures Thursday.

There was actually a big rise in jobs for teen-agers — 1.6 million — but they continued to pour into the labor force in such large numbers that their jobless rate dropped only from 14.1 to 13.2 per cent.

—:—

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has passed and sent to President Johnson a five-year, $185-million measure to extend, expand and accelerate an Interior Department program to convert salt water for drinking.

Both House and Senate acted Thursday after a conference committee worked out final details of the legislation.

The bill authorizes an extra $15 million for research and development which when added to unappropriated funds brings the total for fiscal 1967 to $35 million.

The bill also requires additional congressional authorizations for amounts above $90 million with such totals limited to $180 million. The administration had asked for $200 million over five years with no provision for further congressional approval.

—:—

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican congressional leaders have attacked administration spending which they said has failed to reduce unemployment but has raised prices.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois complained that the cost of living was up for the third straight month. He said such inflation "offsets the billions being expended in the highly-publicized war on poverty."

House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, sharing the rostrum Thursday with Dirksen at a joint news conference, charged that spending programs offered as "panaceas for unemployment" have not attained the administration's 4-year-old "interim goal" of an unemployment level of 4 percent.

The sale is subject to Cyprus' examination of the corporation's records and properties before Sept. 9, the date fixed for the sale. If Cyprus is not satisfied, it has the right to end the agreement.

Completion of the sale will require the approval of the holders of two-thirds of United's outstanding stock. Such approval will be sought at a special meeting of the stockholders, tentatively set for Aug. 31.

Management and employes will continue with United Clay Mines which will become a part of Cyprus Mines Industrial Minerals Division and United's headquarters will remain at its present location here.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: I made the best-yet cover for my rolling pin!

I tied a knot at the ankle of a clean, old nylon stocking, cut off the foot, and inserted the rolling pin in the leg part. Then I pulled the nylon as taut as possible, tied a knot in the other end, and cut off the excess.

It's a breeze to wash it — dries much faster than the usual cotton covers — and, since it's for free, I can replace it any time I want to.

BLANCHE.

HI FRIEND HELOISE: Do you like a comfortable, easy-fitting housecoat or duster?

Choose a coat pattern of simple lines, and leave out the lining.

And, for material — I go to drapery department sales and buy heavy quality cottons, etc. They wear so long, and look real elegant.

I also find that a few corsage pins are a big help when sewing.

They pin a pattern on materials especially well, are easily seen, and on heavy or nappy fabrics they are the best.

MILDRED.

DEAR HELOISE: Three cheers for good, old, versatile nylon net. As we grow older, we tend to dry out, but (Thank Heavens) we don't blow away ....

So the rough, dry skin remains.

However, may I remind you this is where your King Nylon enters, conquers and devours. In bathing, nothing works better for scrubbing elbows and heels.

M.T.

-:-

And, dear M.T., if you sew a piece of that nylon net on one side of an old terry cloth wash rag, you will be surprised how much easier it is to bathe! The net does the scrubbing, and the cloth holds the soap suds and does the rinsing.

And, try it for washing rings from that bathtub!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Perhaps others might like to do as I plan to do for my two daughters' first anniversary gifts this year. (The first anniversary is paper, you know.)

I'm going to type copies of your hints from the newspaper, and put them in loose leaf binders, using an index system: "Washing hints", "Spots", "Different rooms", "Baby care", etc. (This could also be done with a recipe file box instead of a binder). And, I can add to it.

Another thing I plan to do for their first anniversary: I will have copies made of the nicest snapshots ... those of grandparents, relatives, parents' wedding, baby pictures, first Communion, graduation, proms, and all those things which make up a treasured family history, and put them in an album.

MRS. F.T.

DEAR HELOISE: To avoid loss of film sent for processing, I always paste an address label on the roll before putting it in the container jar for mailing.

MRS. B. REYNOLDS.

DEAR HELOISE: My little boy went to a birthday party yesterday where hot dogs were served. My young'un managed to get mustard on his good shirt. What can I do to remove it??? SPOTTY'S MOM.

-:-

DEAR MOM: Saturate the spot with warm glycerin, let it set a while, then wash the shirt in soapsuds to which a small amount of alcohol has been added.

If the stain is not entirely removed, apply oxalic acid (10 per cent solution) with a medicine dropper, rinse thoroughly, then follow with a rinse of one teaspoon of ammonia to one pint of water.

Be sure to SPOT TEST to see if it's safe for your particular fabric and to READ CAUTIONS on the containers.

HELOISE.

Girls: Some of my readers have shown concern about the recent "Letter of Laughter" I printed from a reader — about her putting her feet in ice water in order to stay cool while ironing.

I realized this wasn't conventional, but the Electrical Engineering Department of the District of Columbia told me that they had never heard of anyone receiving a severe shock while ironing (with an iron which is in good condition) because of the plastic or wooden handles and the required insulation of the electrical elements inside the iron. However, they agreed that a defective iron could give you a shock.

The Division of Accident Prevention of the U. S. Department of Health discussed this problem with the National Electrical Manufacturers Association. It came up with this answer to the question as to whether there was an increased hazard because of the feet soaking in a tub of water if a "short" occurs in an electrical appliance:

Kuzma said plans are being made to climax the season with Midland Playground Day next Friday. The event will begin at 10 a.m. at the 7th St. playground, and will feature various activities.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: When I was married in 1954 I weighed 98 pounds. Unfortunately I gained 30 pounds with each of my two children and the weight just stayed on.

Today I weigh 158 but I really don't look it. When I put on my good corset and wear heels and a black dress you'd guess me at about 130.

My husband makes me miserable because I'm overweight. Every time I reach for a second piece of butter or a baked potato he makes some ugly remark. He is one of those wiry types who can still get into his Korean War uniform.

Last Sunday he put it on to do the yard work. I'm sure he did it just to make me mad.

Why should I deprive myself of delicious food to please a man who is so mean? I know several women who are overweight but their husbands love them anyway. Please say he should accept me as I am. I get very depressed over his constant nagging. — PLEASINGLY PLUMP.

-:-

Dear ———: Some husbands don't care if their wives get fat, but your husband DOES care and he has let you know it.

Obviously you'd rather stuff your face than please him. This hurts a man's pride and his needling remarks are his way of getting even.

One of these days I hope you get sick of yourself and go to a doctor and ask to be put on a sensible diet. When you begin to shed those unhealthy and unattractive pounds your husband will like you better — and you'll like yourself better, too.

Gambling Paradise

Dear Ann: If I were the publisher of the Las Vegas paper I would throw your column out. For the third time in the last two years you have printed a reference to Las Vegas in connection with slot machines and dice tables.

The image of Las Vegas as a city made up of nothing but gamblers is unfair. Thousands of respectable, decent people live in this wonderful city. Many of us have never seen the inside of a gambling casino and don't plan to.

Las Vegas has excellent schools, beautiful churches, lovely parks and one of the best golf courses in the country. We have a wide circle of friends who are interested in art, science, music and literature.

So please, Ann, stop portraying Las Vegas as a city that has nothing to offer but casinos. —FIE ON YOU.

-:-

Dear Fie: I'm sure many citizens of Las Vegas have no interest in dice tables or slot machines. (This is strictly for visiting suckers.) But since gambling IS your city's major industry, it should not surprise you that Las Vegas has earned the image.

If you'd like to change it, get your Chamber of Commerce to promote something else.

Reminder Of Past

Dear Ann: Our daughter was divorced last year after a scandalous affair with a married man. Her husband was a fine person and our heart ached for him.

Recently our daughter remarried. We do not know her new husband well because she met him abroad and they were here only briefly.

During their visit my daughter announced that she and her husband plan to move to this city soon and she asked me to remove the panel of wedding pictures in the living room. These photographs were of her first wedding and they are truly beautiful.

My husband and I wonder if she has the right to ask such a thing. After all, this is our home and we are still very fond of our former son-in-law. What's your opinion? — LOYAL IN-LAWS.

-:-

Dear In-Laws: Remove the pictures. If they remain they will be a steady source of discomfort to your daughter and her husband — and understandably so.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Cincinnati Area Plant Due Pact For Jet Engines

CINCINNATI (AP)—Both of Hamilton County's congressmen say the General Electric Co. plant in suburban Evendale can expect a $750 million contract to make engines for the huge C5A jet transport.

First word that the Air Force was stopping its grants to the Pratt & Whitney Co. for its prototype engine came from Rep. John J. Gilligan, a Democrat. Rep. Donald D. Clancy, a Republican, said the same.

Air Force Secretary Eugene M. Zuckert, in Washington confirmed that the P&W grants had been stopped, but Air Force spokesmen warned this did not mean GE had the contract all sewed up.

Both Gilligan and Clancy said flatly that G.E. can expect the contract — which would mean thousands of jobs at the sprawling plant in Evendale.

A GE spokesman said the compny had not been notified of any contract so far.

Work on the transports, which will be capable of carrying 600 troops, will be spread out over several years. There have been reports that the first 50 C5A's will cost $1.8 billon, with $750 million going for their engines.

Employment Picture Good In Pennsylvania

UNIVERSTIY PARK, Pa. (AP) —More people were at work in Pennsylvania during June than any summer since 1957, the Pennsylvania business survey reported today.

Non-farm employment, the survey said, "was very close to the all-time high achieved in February, 1953."

The survey, published by the College of Business Administration at Pennsylvania State University, described business conditions in the state during the second quarter as expanding to the best level in many years. The report added:

"Even the long-depressed anthracite production improved steadily, although bituminous coal production eased off.

"Pennsylvania steel mills eased production just a bit in June with strike pressure off temporarily."

Witnesses said Ronald Loch, the victim, was attempting Thursday to save Jolene McCafferty of Mansfield when he disappeared in water nine feet deep.

His body was recovered two and a half hours later a quarter mile west of Cedar Point.

Miss McCafferty and a girl friend, Georga Anna Waltz, 18, of Mansfield, were in water five feet deep when Miss Waltz apparently lost a hair curler. The younger girl dived in to retrieve the curler.

When Miss McCafferty found the water was over her head because of a dropoff, she panicked.

Loch, who was on shore, swam out to help. He had trouble in making the rescue and called to shore for a boat. He disappeared before the arrival of some persons in a boat who rescued the girl.

Loch was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Loch, who stood helplessly on the shore. The Lochs have a summer cottage near Sandusky. Their son was a June graduate of Mansfield High School.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: When I was married in 1954 I weighed 98 pounds. Unfortunately I gained 30 pounds with each of my two children and the weight just stayed on.

Today I weigh 158 but I really don't look it. When I put on my good corset and wear heels and a black dress you'd guess me at about 130.

My husband makes me miserable because I'm overweight. Every time I reach for a second piece of butter or a baked potato he makes some ugly remark. He is one of those wiry types who can still get into his Korean War uniform.

Last Sunday he put it on to do the yard work. I'm sure he did it just to make me mad.

Why should I deprive myself of delicious food to please a man who is so mean? I know several women who are overweight but their husbands love them anyway. Please say he should accept me as I am. I get very depressed over his constant nagging. — PLEASINGLY PLUMP.

-:-

Dear ———: Some husbands don't care if their wives get fat, but your husband DOES care and he has let you know it.

Obviously you'd rather stuff your face than please him. This hurts a man's pride and his needling remarks are his way of getting even.

One of these days I hope you get sick of yourself and go to a doctor and ask to be put on a sensible diet. When you begin to shed those unhealthy and unattractive pounds your husband will like you better — and you'll like yourself better, too.

Gambling Paradise

Dear Ann: If I were the publisher of the Las Vegas paper I would throw your column out. For the third time in the last two years you have printed a reference to Las Vegas in connection with slot machines and dice tables.

The image of Las Vegas as a city made up of nothing but gamblers is unfair. Thousands of respectable, decent people live in this wonderful city. Many of us have never seen the inside of a gambling casino and don't plan to.

Las Vegas has excellent schools, beautiful churches, lovely parks and one of the best golf courses in the country. We have a wide circle of friends who are interested in art, science, music and literature.

So please, Ann, stop portraying Las Vegas as a city that has nothing to offer but casinos. —FIE ON YOU.

-:-

Dear Fie: I'm sure many citizens of Las Vegas have no interest in dice tables or slot machines. (This is strictly for visiting suckers.) But since gambling IS your city's major industry, it should not surprise you that Las Vegas has earned the image.

If you'd like to change it, get your Chamber of Commerce to promote something else.

Reminder Of Past

Dear Ann: Our daughter was divorced last year after a scandalous affair with a married man. Her husband was a fine person and our heart ached for him.

Recently our daughter remarried. We do not know her new husband well because she met him abroad and they were here only briefly.

During their visit my daughter announced that she and her husband plan to move to this city soon and she asked me to remove the panel of wedding pictures in the living room. These photographs were of her first wedding and they are truly beautiful.

My husband and I wonder if she has the right to ask such a thing. After all, this is our home and we are still very fond of our former son-in-law. What's your opinion? — LOYAL IN-LAWS.

-:-

Dear In-Laws: Remove the pictures. If they remain they will be a steady source of discomfort to your daughter and her husband — and understandably so.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Cincinnati Area Plant Due Pact For Jet Engines

CINCINNATI (AP)—Both of Hamilton County's congressmen say the General Electric Co. plant in suburban Evendale can expect a $750 million contract to make engines for the huge C5A jet transport.

First word that the Air Force was stopping its grants to the Pratt & Whitney Co. for its prototype engine came from Rep. John J. Gilligan, a Democrat. Rep. Donald D. Clancy, a Republican, said the same.

Air Force Secretary Eugene M. Zuckert, in Washington confirmed that the P&W grants had been stopped, but Air Force spokesmen warned this did not mean GE had the contract all sewed up.

Both Gilligan and Clancy said flatly that G.E. can expect the contract — which would mean thousands of jobs at the sprawling plant in Evendale.

A GE spokesman said the compny had not been notified of any contract so far.

Work on the transports, which will be capable of carrying 600 troops, will be spread out over several years. There have been reports that the first 50 C5A's will cost $1.8 billon, with $750 million going for their engines.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

A Country Without Television

Every so often from Johannesburg, South Africa, comes a report of unrest among the natives because they have no television to watch. It is about the only country left, with the possible exception of Outer Mongolia, which does not get to see Bonanza — even in black - and - white.

Hal Humphrey

South Africa is not intentionally being preserved as a cultural oasis in this report. In fact, critics of Prime Minister Hendrik Verweord claim he and his government are anti-TV only because they fear its influence and implied rebuttal to their laws of apartheid (separation of blacks and whites).

Had Prime Minister Verwoerd been seeing any American TV, however, he would have known there was little to fear in that quarter from us. In six seasons of Bonanza, for example, only four Negroes have shown up in two of 204 episodes.

-:-

ANY NUMBER of American TV series might be imported by a potential South African TV station manager in which Negroes are not mentioned, much less actually seen.

But perhaps he is perceptive enough to see a danger even in all-white programming on TV. There is substantial evidence pointing to an increase in unrest among our own Southern Negroes as a result of their watching TV.

An image on a screen in the home of an illiterate person registers with more impact than on one with education and sophistication. Why wouldn't a poor, disenfranchised Negro become unhappier with his lot as more of the all-white world above him and its material goodies are rammed down his throat via a TV tube?

Someone is going to ask, "If he's poor, what's he doing with a TV set?" That naive soul, whoever he is, reckons without good old American business enterprise which will put anything in your home on a look of faith and so much a month.

-:-

THIS LATEST dispatch from the Associated Press correspondent in Johannesburg reports an appliance store there is now displaying in its window a "massive television set." It is a form of commercial pressure which isn't likely to do more than make a few South African mouths water. Maybe the appliance dealer eventually will sell the set to someone in neighboring Rhodesia where TV is a fact of life.

The interesting thing to be gleaned here is that TV despite all of its commercialism and distilled escapism can be a force for good, not necessarily intended by those running it.

It is a wry joke on the men of Madison Avenue whose chief goal has been to sell merchandise, and who believed that a warm atmosphere of empathy and mediocrity was the proper climate for such a goal.

-:-

NOW IT DEVELOPS they may have forged a propaganda instrument which spurs the have-nots to join the haves, and all of those Western series we've seen on TV over the years have shown it isn't necessary to be too ethical in the process.

If South African Prime Minister Verwoerd is keeping TV out of his country as a prerequisite to maintaining the status quo, his motive is a sound one for him. TV can make one restless.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Old Rules On Good Manners Listed

You may have read the rules on manners which George Washington in his early teens wrote down in a "copy book." No doubt most or all these rules came down in print from earlier centuries. In 1914 the Merrimount Press of Boston printed a translation of "A Revassace Courtesy Book: Galateo of Manners and Behavior," written by Giovanni Della Casa, 1551-55. Below are some rules on manners from that book.

Dr. Garry Myers

They reveal the author's philosophy, "The function of good manners is to be found in the desire to please"—in consideration of the rights and feelings of others. They make sense:

We must not only refrain from such things as be fowle, filthy, loathsome and nastie; but we must not so much as name them. Let your apparel be very well made, and fit for your body. It ill becomes a man when he is in company to be sad, musing, and full of contemplation; or to sleep in the company of others, read a letter, or pare his fingernails.

-:-

DON'T STAND too close to the peron you are talking to. Don't claw or scratch yourself while sitting at the table. Don't rub teeth with napkins, much less with fingers; nor carry a stick in your mouth from the table when you rise. Be cheerful at the table. Don't talk about the baby and family all the time. Be a good listener—don't try to steal the show.

Things to avoid because they offend the senses:

Coughing, sneezing or yawning in company's presence; greediness and carelessness in eating, not even mentioning what might be an indelicate act. Don't talk about inappropriate things or mention indelicate matters or brag or lie. Don't turn your back to other persons or be careless about the way you stand.

The author has much to say about table manners. The constant emphasis is on awareness of other persons and how they feel, in your presence.

Modern books on etiquette seem to be concerned most with the veneer of good manners rather than with consideration for all other persons regardless of their status or social rank.

-:-

ANY PERSON who is constantly sensitive to all others will not need to try to remember the basic rules of good manners. He will incline to observe them whether he has heard them stated or not.

It is apparent that when we observe basic good manners we have learned to check and control our ways of acting and speaking in the presence of other persons. This means that we have learned such inhibitions as are useful in all our social relationships.

It means we have learned self - control, which in turn means we have been restrained and controlled in our earlier years by our parents and others concerned with our behavior.

Can you imagine any child at five, eight, or fifteen having reasonably good manners who has never learned to respect the meaning of No — who has always done about as he pleased?

My bulletins, "Good Manners Make You Likable" and "Good Manners and Self-Control," may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

A Country Without Television

Every so often from Johannesburg, South Africa, comes a report of unrest among the natives because they have no television to watch. It is about the only country left, with the possible exception of Outer Mongolia, which does not get to see Bonanza — even in black - and - white.

Hal Humphrey

South Africa is not intentionally being preserved as a cultural oasis in this report. In fact, critics of Prime Minister Hendrik Verweord claim he and his government are anti-TV only because they fear its influence and implied rebuttal to their laws of apartheid (separation of blacks and whites).

Had Prime Minister Verwoerd been seeing any American TV, however, he would have known there was little to fear in that quarter from us. In six seasons of Bonanza, for example, only four Negroes have shown up in two of 204 episodes.

-:-

ANY NUMBER of American TV series might be imported by a potential South African TV station manager in which Negroes are not mentioned, much less actually seen.

But perhaps he is perceptive enough to see a danger even in all-white programming on TV. There is substantial evidence pointing to an increase in unrest among our own Southern Negroes as a result of their watching TV.

An image on a screen in the home of an illiterate person registers with more impact than on one with education and sophistication. Why wouldn't a poor, disenfranchised Negro become unhappier with his lot as more of the all-white world above him and its material goodies are rammed down his throat via a TV tube?

Someone is going to ask, "If he's poor, what's he doing with a TV set?" That naive soul, whoever he is, reckons without good old American business enterprise which will put anything in your home on a look of faith and so much a month.

-:-

THIS LATEST dispatch from the Associated Press correspondent in Johannesburg reports an appliance store there is now displaying in its window a "massive television set." It is a form of commercial pressure which isn't likely to do more than make a few South African mouths water. Maybe the appliance dealer eventually will sell the set to someone in neighboring Rhodesia where TV is a fact of life.

The interesting thing to be gleaned here is that TV despite all of its commercialism and distilled escapism can be a force for good, not necessarily intended by those running it.

It is a wry joke on the men of Madison Avenue whose chief goal has been to sell merchandise, and who believed that a warm atmosphere of empathy and mediocrity was the proper climate for such a goal.

-:-

NOW IT DEVELOPS they may have forged a propaganda instrument which spurs the have-nots to join the haves, and all of those Western series we've seen on TV over the years have shown it isn't necessary to be too ethical in the process.

If South African Prime Minister Verwoerd is keeping TV out of his country as a prerequisite to maintaining the status quo, his motive is a sound one for him. TV can make one restless.

Fan Questions Game . . .

Dear Sir: Perhaps this will be the unteenth time you have been approached about this subject, however would you be in a position to answer my questions.

First—Why is the Oak Glen-Potter football game being played at the Newell field when the seating capacity will no more than accommodate the two high school bands?

Second—Do you not believe that this game out of pure curiosity, if nothing else, will draw the largest crowd of the season since three former schools are now one? Each school has given notice in the past, by scholarships through athletics, that it will not be rated second to any school in the area.

Does the person or persons or group intend to let attending fans at this particular game take turns holding one another on their shoulders to see the game or do the West Virginia school officials intend to install mirrors and reflectors for the benefit of the attending fans?

It seems to me that a campaign to enlarge the seating capacity at Patterson Field, with the help of a leading citizen and other willing followers, has been a waste of time if the Potter boosters are deprived of the right to see this particular game. When I was a lad everyone attending a Potter football encounter at the old Patterson Field had to stand at a wire fence on the sidelines and take their chances of seeing every play. Those days are gone forever, so I thought.

What is happening to the athletic program at East Liverpool High School? Who is trying to undermine it?

Our schedule is beginning to look like a grade school program. If anyone has the answer and the courage to relate the details, I would be happy to hear what is to be said.

George Connelly
139 W. 3rd St.

In answer to your first question Mr. Connelly, the Oak Glen-East Liverpool game is being played at Newell because the two schools signed a two-year home-and-home contract which stipulated that the first game would be Oak Glen's home contest.

To say the Newell Field will accommodate only the two bands is greatly exaggerated. We talked to Russell Slack, principal at Oak Glen High School, and he informed us that new bleachers are expected any day and, when erected, the seating capacity at the Newell field will be almost 5,000.

In the past, East Liverpool has played schools with the same or smaller seating capacities.

Slack also pointed out that Oak Glen fans deserve to have the game played at their home field and emphasized that various organizations profit from concession stands and the selling of programs.

We agree that the game will probably draw one of the largest crowds in the Ohio Valley this season and we further agree that since Patterson Field has increased its seating capacity it would be more convenient for the fans if the game were played in East Liverpool. However, on a home-and-home basis, East Liverpool will get the game in 1966.

We don't believe anyone is trying to undermine East Liverpool's athletic program. As far as the schedule is concerned, it has been stronger in the past and perhaps a few changes will be made in the future.

Incidentally, Mr. Connelly, Mr. Slack will make sure that you see the game. He will hold two reserved seat tickets in your name.

The Prosecutor Comes Back . . .

PROSECUTOR 2nd, the horse that nobody wanted, is earning his feed bill these days.

The horse was badly bowed and run down at the heels last winter at Waterford Park and was offered to trainer Jimmy Parks for $40 by his owner George Rose. Jimmy planned to take him to the dog-meat butchers.

In the meantime, prominent horse owner and trainer Carl Gee, who has a 27 horse racing stable at Waterford, offered Rose $100 for the horse and was immediately given the papers for him.

Gee, father of the trainer Eddie and rider C. Wayne, set about nursing the Prosecutor for a comeback. The thoroughbred responded to the kind of treatment bestowed upon him by the entire Gee family and rapidly showed signs of healing from his many ailments.

On April 19, he was entered in a race at Waterford at five-eights of a mile for a purse of $1,200. Prosecutor 2nd won the race and since has accounted for eight victories, the most recent on July 26. He has won his last four starts in a row.

Now the thoroughbred, who had been relegated to the "butchers", came back and is now the hero and star of the Gee family stable.

Koufax Claims Braves As 19th Win

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Mays' Booming Bat Wrecks Cincy

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Mays and Sandy Koufax, performing on separate stages, on typically glittering shows Thursday night.

Mays clouted two homers and drove in four runs as San Francisco annihilated Cincinnati 18-7 while Koufax picked up his 19th victory in the Los Angeles Dodgers' 6-3 triumph over Milwaukee.

Mays came to bat for the first time minutes after teammate Jim Davenport won $50 in a pre-game milking competition. Two men were on base, and the Giant slugger promptly connected for his 26th home run. He batted again in the second inning and this time unloaded his 27th.

In his act, Koufax scattered seven hits, struck out 12 and walked two. The victory set the stage for the 29-year-old southpaw to become the season's first 20-game winner early next week.

Koufax is ahead of the pace he set in his two previous best seasons. In 1963, en route to 25 victories, he won his 19th game Aug. 17 and his 20th 12 days later. Last year he picked up No. 19 on Aug. 16 but never had a chance for the 20th. An elbow injury took care of that.

He also is maintaining a pace that would make him the one-season strikeout king in modern history. His major league-leading total of 253 is only 95 away from Bob Feller's record of 348. His average of 10 strikeouts a game could give him the record in 10 more starts.

Besides his strikeout total, Koufax — a four-game loser — is maintaining a brilliant walking mark. In 222 innings, he has walked only 44, or slightly less than two a game.

In other National League games, Philadelphia edged Chicago 4-3, Pittsburgh bombed New York 11-3 and St. Louis stopped Houston 3-1.

Two of the Braves' hits off Koufax were Joe Torre's second- inning homer and Mack Jones' two-run blast in the ninth. Jim Lefebvre drove in three Dodger runs, two on a third-inning homer, but base-stealing ace Maury Wills was picked off for the third time in three games.

Mays was joined in the Giants' 19-hit attack by Len Gabrielson, who rapped four hits and drove in four runs, and Jesus Alou, who had four hits and batted in three runs, Gordy Coleman homered twice for the Reds while Deron Johnson and Pete Rose each connected once.

Philadelphia nipped the Cubs on Rich Allen's two-run triple in the fifth inning. Allen also singled and scored on Adolfo Phillips' single in the fourth. Relief pitchers Gary Wagner and Bo Belinsky snuffed out Chicago threats in the eighth and ninth innings.

League-leading Roberto Clemente raised his average to .345 with a single, double and home run while pitcher Don Cardwell added a three-run homer to Pittsburgh's attack. Cardwell brought his record to 10-5 as the Pirates won their fifth straight game.

Bob Gobson picked up his 14th triumph against eight defeats with a four-hitter against the Astros. Tim McCarver drove in the first two St. Louis runs with a sacrifice fly and an infield out.

Browns 2 Touchdown Pick Over Collegians Tonight

CHICAGO (AP) — Billing for the 32nd All-Star football game at Soldier Field tonight could read: Graham's Gimmicks vs. the Cleveland Browns.

With a group of fine quarterbacks and pass receivers, Head Coach Otto Graham is expected to use some dipsy-doodle formations to hit a scoring bomb against the National Football League champions.

The Browns rank a 14 to 17-point favorite for the midsummer classic that will draw nearly 70,000 fans and will be televised and broadcast by ABC starting at 9 p.m., EST.

Graham, the one-time Brown quarterbacking great who has been head master of the graduated collegians since 1958, has massed firepower behind starter Roger Staubach of Navy, John Huarte of Notre Dame and California's Craig Morton.

Another quarterback, Bob Timberlake of Michigan, is nursing a sore elbow and is questionable. So is breakaway runner Gale Sayers of Kansas, hobbled with an injured knee.

Perhaps, as many as two quarterbacks will be in the backfield at the same time in wide-spread formations that have been tagged as Graham Crackers.

Twice Graham's teams have won in the series, defeating the Detroit Lions 35-19 in 1958 and the Green Bay Packers 20-17 in 1963. The NFL champions hold a big 20-9-2 edge in the rivalry.

Long-shot gimmicks by the All-Stars are expected by Coach Blanton Collier of the Browns.

"We expect them to use two or three different spread formations," he said. "They may be difficult to check because the All-Stars have quarterbacks who can run and scramble as well as pass."

The weather forecast for tonight is warm and humid with thundershowers likely.

Fan Questions Game . . .

Dear Sir: Perhaps this will be the unteenth time you have been approached about this subject, however would you be in a position to answer my questions.

First—Why is the Oak Glen-Potter football game being played at the Newell field when the seating capacity will no more than accommodate the two high school bands?

Second—Do you not believe that this game out of pure curiosity, if nothing else, will draw the largest crowd of the season since three former schools are now one? Each school has given notice in the past, by scholarships through athletics, that it will not be rated second to any school in the area.

Does the person or persons or group intend to let attending fans at this particular game take turns holding one another on their shoulders to see the game or do the West Virginia school officials intend to install mirrors and reflectors for the benefit of the attending fans?

It seems to me that a campaign to enlarge the seating capacity at Patterson Field, with the help of a leading citizen and other willing followers, has been a waste of time if the Potter boosters are deprived of the right to see this particular game. When I was a lad everyone attending a Potter football encounter at the old Patterson Field had to stand at a wire fence on the sidelines and take their chances of seeing every play. Those days are gone forever, so I thought.

What is happening to the athletic program at East Liverpool High School? Who is trying to undermine it?

Our schedule is beginning to look like a grade school program. If anyone has the answer and the courage to relate the details, I would be happy to hear what is to be said.

George Connelly
139 W. 3rd St.

In answer to your first question Mr. Connelly, the Oak Glen-East Liverpool game is being played at Newell because the two schools signed a two-year home-and-home contract which stipulated that the first game would be Oak Glen's home contest.

To say the Newell Field will accommodate only the two bands is greatly exaggerated. We talked to Russell Slack, principal at Oak Glen High School, and he informed us that new bleachers are expected any day and, when erected, the seating capacity at the Newell field will be almost 5,000.

In the past, East Liverpool has played schools with the same or smaller seating capacities.

Slack also pointed out that Oak Glen fans deserve to have the game played at their home field and emphasized that various organizations profit from concession stands and the selling of programs.

We agree that the game will probably draw one of the largest crowds in the Ohio Valley this season and we further agree that since Patterson Field has increased its seating capacity it would be more convenient for the fans if the game were played in East Liverpool. However, on a home-and-home basis, East Liverpool will get the game in 1966.

We don't believe anyone is trying to undermine East Liverpool's athletic program. As far as the schedule is concerned, it has been stronger in the past and perhaps a few changes will be made in the future.

Incidentally, Mr. Connelly, Mr. Slack will make sure that you see the game. He will hold two reserved seat tickets in your name.

The Prosecutor Comes Back . . .

PROSECUTOR 2nd, the horse that nobody wanted, is earning his feed bill these days.

The horse was badly bowed and run down at the heels last winter at Waterford Park and was offered to trainer Jimmy Parks for $40 by his owner George Rose. Jimmy planned to take him to the dog-meat butchers.

In the meantime, prominent horse owner and trainer Carl Gee, who has a 27 horse racing stable at Waterford, offered Rose $100 for the horse and was immediately given the papers for him.

Gee, father of the trainer Eddie and rider C. Wayne, set about nursing the Prosecutor for a comeback. The thoroughbred responded to the kind of treatment bestowed upon him by the entire Gee family and rapidly showed signs of healing from his many ailments.

On April 19, he was entered in a race at Waterford at five-eights of a mile for a purse of $1,200. Prosecutor 2nd won the race and since has accounted for eight victories, the most recent on July 26. He has won his last four starts in a row.

Now the thoroughbred, who had been relegated to the "butchers", came back and is now the hero and star of the Gee family stable.

Koufax Claims Braves As 19th Win

Mays' Booming Bat Wrecks Cincy

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Mays and Sandy Koufax, performing on separate stages, on typically glittering shows Thursday night.

Mays clouted two homers and drove in four runs as San Francisco annihilated Cincinnati 18-7 while Koufax picked up his 19th victory in the Los Angeles Dodgers' 6-3 triumph over Milwaukee.

Mays came to bat for the first time minutes after teammate Jim Davenport won $50 in a pre-game milking competition. Two men were on base, and the Giant slugger promptly connected for his 26th home run. He batted again in the second inning and this time unloaded his 27th.

In his act, Koufax scattered seven hits, struck out 12 and walked two. The victory set the stage for the 29-year-old southpaw to become the season's first 20-game winner early next week.

Koufax is ahead of the pace he set in his two previous best seasons. In 1963, en route to 25 victories, he won his 19th game Aug. 17 and his 20th 12 days later. Last year he picked up No. 19 on Aug. 16 but never had a chance for the 20th. An elbow injury took care of that.

He also is maintaining a pace that would make him the one-season strikeout king in modern history. His major league-leading total of 253 is only 95 away from Bob Feller's record of 348. His average of 10 strikeouts a game could give him the record in 10 more starts.

Besides his strikeout total, Koufax — a four-game loser — is maintaining a brilliant walking mark. In 222 innings, he has walked only 44, or slightly less than two a game.

In other National League games, Philadelphia edged Chicago 4-3, Pittsburgh bombed New York 11-3 and St. Louis stopped Houston 3-1.

Two of the Braves' hits off Koufax were Joe Torre's second- inning homer and Mack Jones' two-run blast in the ninth. Jim Lefebvre drove in three Dodger runs, two on a third-inning homer, but base-stealing ace Maury Wills was picked off for the third time in three games.

Mays was joined in the Giants' 19-hit attack by Len Gabrielson, who rapped four hits and drove in four runs, and Jesus Alou, who had four hits and batted in three runs, Gordy Coleman homered twice for the Reds while Deron Johnson and Pete Rose each connected once.

Philadelphia nipped the Cubs on Rich Allen's two-run triple in the fifth inning. Allen also singled and scored on Adolfo Phillips' single in the fourth. Relief pitchers Gary Wagner and Bo Belinsky snuffed out Chicago threats in the eighth and ninth innings.

League-leading Roberto Clemente raised his average to .345 with a single, double and home run while pitcher Don Cardwell added a three-run homer to Pittsburgh's attack. Cardwell brought his record to 10-5 as the Pirates won their fifth straight game.

Bob Gobson picked up his 14th triumph against eight defeats with a four-hitter against the Astros. Tim McCarver drove in the first two St. Louis runs with a sacrifice fly and an infield out.

Ford Shuts Out White Sox

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Fred Talbot, the young Kansas City right-hander, became the Athletics' first 10-game winner Thursday night when he limited Boston to six hits and got last out help from John Wyatt for a 5-1 victory over the Red Sox.

The American League's 10-game club is not a terribly exclusive place these days with 15 other pitchers joining the ranks before Talbot made it. But none of the other members toils for the last place Athletics, who've managed just 35 victories all season.

Talbot was passed on to Kansas City in the aftermath of the complicated three-cornered trade and has a 10-6 record and 3.48 earned run average for 140 innings. The 24-year-old pitcher has become the top pitcher on the Athletics staff.

Elsewhere in the American League, Minnesota lengthened its lead to 5½ games over idle Baltimore by whipping Washington 8-5, New York blanked Chicago 3-0 behind Whitey Ford's five-hitter and Cleveland defeated Detroit 5-2 for Sam McDowell's 12th victory.

Talbot had allowed only one hit after the third inning and had two out in the ninth when he ran into trouble. Singles by Jim Gosger and Russ Nixon brought Wyatt out of the bullpen.

After a walk to pinch hitter Tony Horton loaded the bases, Wyatt retired Eddie Bressoud on a foul pop, ending it.

Bill Bryan knocked in two runs for the A's and Talbot also drove in one with an eighth inning single.

Joe Nossek and Zoilo Versalles provided the home run punch for Minnesota against Washington. Nossek's three-run shot built a five-run Twin lead in the third inning and Jim Kaat coasted to his 10th victory. Relief ace Johnny Klippstein finished up.

It was Ford's kind of day in Chicago — 92 degrees worth — and the Yankee southpaw responded with his 13th victory. Whitey, who has trouble on cool days because the operation on his left shoulder last winter left him with a circulation problem in his pitching hand, was in charge all the way.

Ford's batterymate, Elston Howard, whacked a two-run homer.

McDowell ran his American League-leading strikeout total to 211, fanning 10 Tigers. It was the 12th time in 23 starts this season that the tall left-hander has struck out 10 or more batters in a single game.

Leon Wagner and Rocky Colavito drove in two runs apiece for the Indians with Wagner stroking his 19th homer of the season.

Chester Nine Whips Globe Brick, 13-3

The league leading Chester Merchants walloped Globe Brick, 13-3 Thursday night in the Chester Softball League.

Don Poole was on the mound for the Merchants and limited Globe Brick to four hits and helped his own cause by slamming a home run.

Peck Glover and Vic Reed also homered for the winners. Bill Talbot was the losing hurler while Jim Tice hit a triple for the losers.

Hancock Savings will meet Scafide's tonight at 6:45 in the final regularly scheduled game.

The league's double elimination tournament will get under way Monday. On Aug. 23 the annual invitational tournament will be held with all district teams welcome.

Sikes Leads Philadelphia Golf By Four

WHITEMARSH, Pa. (AP) — Dick Sikes, a 25-year-old comparative newcomer to the pro golf tour, shot a 64 Thursday for a four stroke lead over the field in the $125,000 Philadelphia Open Gulf Classic.

Sikes, who hopes to return to the University of Arkansas in the fall for three hours credit needed for a degree, in the opening round of the 72-hole tournament at Whitemarch Valley Country Club fired eight birdies and 10 pars. Tied at 68 were Bruce Devlin, Bob Charles, Bobby Nichols and Ken Nagle. Eight were deadlocked at 69, including Arnold Palmer, U.S. Open champion Gary Player had a 72 and Masters king Jack Nicklaus a 71.

Sikes canned putts of 8, 15, 20 and 25 feet for birdies. A couple just lipped the cup or he might have tied or broke the course record of 63 set in 1963 by Player. He had 12 one-putt greens, seven for birdies.

Lundy Meets Gus Linder At Clinton

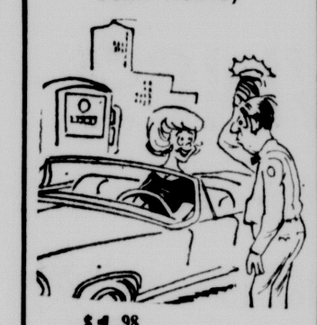

Work crews are putting the finishing touches on checking and inspecting the grandstands and everything is ready for the Greater Pittsburgh Speedway to resume racing on Friday night, August 6th.

The long awaited match race between Gus Linder and Dave Lundy should be all set for Friday night at Clinton's Greater Pittsburgh Speedway. Both drivers have bowed out on different occasions because their respective race cars were not up to perfection.

With no special races all week, both cars should be in tip-top shape for the match race.

Dave Lundy still holds down the top spot in the point standings but with the big double feature race coming up on August 13th and each race pays points towards the championship the picture could change rapidly because both Steve Unger of Garrettsville, Ohio and Gus Linder of Baldwin are within striking distance of the first position in the standings.

Ford Shuts Out White Sox

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Fred Talbot, the young Kansas City right-hander, became the Athletics' first 10-game winner Thursday night when he limited Boston to six hits and got last out help from John Wyatt for a 5-1 victory over the Red Sox.

The American League's 10-game club is not a terribly exclusive place these days with 15 other pitchers joining the ranks before Talbot made it. But none of the other members toils for the last place Athletics, who've managed just 35 victories all season.

Talbot was passed on to Kansas City in the aftermath of the complicated three-cornered trade and has a 10-6 record and 3.48 earned run average for 140 innings. The 24-year-old pitcher has become the top pitcher on the Athletics staff.

Elsewhere in the American League, Minnesota lengthened its lead to 5½ games over idle Baltimore by whipping Washington 8-5, New York blanked Chicago 3-0 behind Whitey Ford's five-hitter and Cleveland defeated Detroit 5-2 for Sam McDowell's 12th victory.

Talbot had allowed only one hit after the third inning and had two out in the ninth when he ran into trouble. Singles by Jim Gosger and Russ Nixon brought Wyatt out of the bullpen.

After a walk to pinch hitter Tony Horton loaded the bases, Wyatt retired Eddie Bressoud on a foul pop, ending it.

Bill Bryan knocked in two runs for the A's and Talbot also drove in one with an eighth inning single.

Joe Nossek and Zoilo Versalles provided the home run punch for Minnesota against Washington. Nossek's three-run shot built a five-run Twin lead in the third inning and Jim Kaat coasted to his 10th victory. Relief ace Johnny Klippstein finished up.

It was Ford's kind of day in Chicago — 92 degrees worth — and the Yankee southpaw responded with his 13th victory. Whitey, who has trouble on cool days because the operation on his left shoulder last winter left him with a circulation problem in his pitching hand, was in charge all the way.

Ford's batterymate, Elston Howard, whacked a two-run homer.

McDowell ran his American League-leading strikeout total to 211, fanning 10 Tigers. It was the 12th time in 23 starts this season that the tall left-hander has struck out 10 or more batters in a single game.

Leon Wagner and Rocky Colavito drove in two runs apiece for the Indians with Wagner stroking his 19th homer of the season.

Chester Nine Whips Globe Brick, 13-3

The league leading Chester Merchants walloped Globe Brick, 13-3 Thursday night in the Chester Softball League.

Don Poole was on the mound for the Merchants and limited Globe Brick to four hits and helped his own cause by slamming a home run.

Peck Glover and Vic Reed also homered for the winners. Bill Talbot was the losing hurler while Jim Tice hit a triple for the losers.

Hancock Savings will meet Scafide's tonight at 6:45 in the final regularly scheduled game.

The league's double elimination tournament will get under way Monday. On Aug. 23 the annual invitational tournament will be held with all district teams welcome.

Former College Grid Star Claimed At 69

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Boni Petcoff, 65, prominent Toledo physician who was a college football star four decades ago, died in St. Charles Hospital Thursday after suffering an apparent heart attack.

Dr. Petcoff, a tackle on the Ohio State University football team, was named to Walter Camp's All-America teams in 1922 and 1923. He was OSU team captain in 1923.

Sikes Leads Philadelphia Golf By Four

WHITEMARSH, Pa. (AP) — Dick Sikes, a 25-year-old comparative newcomer to the pro golf tour, shot a 64 Thursday for a four stroke lead over the field in the $125,000 Philadelphia Open Gulf Classic.

Sikes, who hopes to return to the University of Arkansas in the fall for three hours credit needed for a degree, in the opening round of the 72-hole tournament at Whitemarch Valley Country Club fired eight birdies and 10 pars. Tied at 68 were Bruce Devlin, Bob Charles, Bobby Nichols and Ken Nagle. Eight were deadlocked at 69, including Arnold Palmer. U.S. Open champion Gary Player had a 72 and Masters king Jack Nicklaus a 71.

Sikes canned putts of 8, 15, 20 and 25 feet for birdies. A couple just lipped the cup or he might have tied or broke the course record of 63 set in 1963 by Player. He had 12 one-putt greens, seven for birdies.

Tonight's All-Star game, Saturday's Eagle-Redskin game and Sunday's Bills-Patriot clash will be on network television, with CBS screening the NFL game, NBC covering the AFL match and ABC the All-Star contest.

South Side Stars Face Robinson In LL Tournament

The South Side Athletic Club All - Stars will go against Robinson Township No. 2 tonight at 7 p. m. in the first game of the annual single-round elimination Little League tournament at Robinson Township.

The South Side nine had been pitted against the Sheraton A team from Sheraton, Pa., in the initial contest. However, Sheraton was automatically eliminated from the Robinson Township tourney after winning the Williamsport Little League tournament this week to become the Allegheny County District champs.

Lundy Meets Gus Linder At Clinton

Work crews are putting the finishing touches on checking and inspecting the grandstands and everything is ready for the Greater Pittsburgh Speedway to resume racing on Friday night, August 6th.

The long awaited match race between Gus Linder and Dave Lundy should be all set for Friday night at Clinton's Greater Pittsburgh Speedway. Both drivers have bowed out on different occasions because their respective race cars were not up to perfection.

With no special races all week, both cars should be in tip-top shape for the match race.

Dave Lundy still holds down the top spot in the point standings but with the big double feature race coming up on August 13th and each race pays points towards the championship the picture could change rapidly because both Steve Unger of Garrettsville, Ohio and Gus Linder of Baldwin are within striking distance of the first position in the standings.

Medicare And Social Security

Hospital Care Is Heart Of Program

By JOHN TROAN
NEA Special Writer

Medicare is somewhat of a misnomer.

The new Social Security health - care plan for the aged could be more aptly tagged

Fifth In A Series

"Hospicare." For hospital care is the heart of this benefit program.

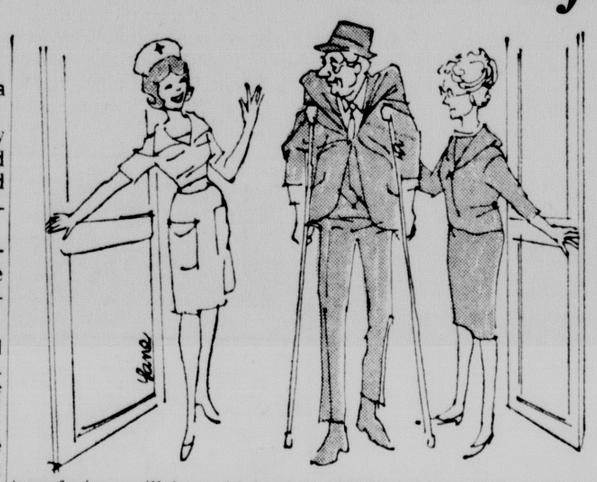

Basically, Medicare will provide up to 90 days of hospital care for each "spell of illness" to a person 65 or older.

A "spell of illness" begins the day a patient is admitted to a hospital or nursing home. It ends once a patient has been outside a hospital and outside a nursing home for 60 straight days.

—:—

MEDICARE won't cover the full hospital bill. The patient will have to pay the first $40. And if he stays longer than 60 days during any "spell of illness," he'll have to pay $10 for each additional day he remains in the hospital.

The patient also will have to pay for the first three pints of blood he might receive—unless he gets donors to replace the blood. After the first three pints, transfusions will be paid for by Medicare.

Coverage will apply to patients in psychiatric and tuberculosis as well as in general hospitals.

But if a patient is already in a mental or TB hospital when he becomes eligible for Medicare, the time he has spent there will be counted against the 90-day limit for a "spell of illness."

Further, no person will be able to draw, during his lifetime, more than a total of 190 days of care in a psychiatric hospital.

—:—

A SPECIAL provision applies to Christian Science sanitoriums operated or certified by the First Church of Christ, Scientist in Boston.

Medicare will cover up to 120 days of care for a single stay in such an institution, with the patient paying the first $40, plus $10 for each day after the first 60 and $5 for each day after the first 90.

Medicare also will cover persons who go to a hospital on a non - overnight basis for X-rays and other diagnostic tests. Such "outpatients" will have to pay the first $20 for services rendered in any 20-day period, plus one-fifth of the balance.

The initial "deductibles" will be in effect through 1968. After that, they may be raised each year if necessary to keep pace with increasing hospital costs.

—:—

HOSPITAL benefits, which start July 1, 1966, include:

A semi - private room (two to four beds), though a doctor may order a private room for "medical reasons."

Regular hospital nurses (but not private - duty nurses).

Services of the hospital's medical social workers.

Use of regular hospital equipment, supplies and appliances, such as oxygen tents, wheelchairs and crutches.

Prescribed drugs which are approved by the hospital's medical staff or by any one of four "medical Bibles" specified in the law.

Services of hospital residents and interns — doctors — getting on-the-job experience under approved training programs.

Services of other physicians will not be covered by the basic Medicare plan.

For Social Security to pay anthing, however, a physician must certify it was medically necessary to put the patient in a hospital. If the patient stays longer than 19 days, the doctor will have to recertify need for continued hospital care at intervals specified by the government.

—:—

CARE IN a psychiatric or tuberculosis hospital will be covered only if a doctor certifies the patient needs special treatment which can be "reasonably expected to improve" his condition — or, in the case of TB, render the disease "noncommunicable." This rules out Medicare coverage for ordinary custodial care in TB and mental institutions.

In an emergency, a patient could be treated in any hospital. He could even be taken to a hospital outside the United States provided the emergency occurs in this country and the foreign hospital is "closer or substantially more accessible" than any "adequately equipped" hospital in the United States. But if the emergency arises outside the United States, Medicare won't pay.

In non - emergency cases, Social Security will pay only if the patient goes to a hospital which signs a Medicare agreement with the federal government.

To do this a hospital must subscribe to a physician - controlled "utilization review" committee which will check on admissions to prevent needless use of hospital facilities and services.

Psychiatric and TB hospitals also must be approved by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, a professional rating agency. Other hospitals must be so accredited or prove they meet standards similar to those required for such "accreditation."

Next: Nursing home benefits.

BPW's Picnic Set On Aug. 11

The annual picnic of the East Liverpool Business and Professional Women's Club will be held next Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at the home of Miss Helen Bibbee on Ridgeview Ave. in Oakmont.

The deadline for member reservations will be Sunday, to Miss Bibbee or Mrs. Mildred Urie, co-hostesses.

Following the dinner, for which members are requested to furnish a "covereddish", a brief business session is scheduled, with Miss Joan Witt, preident, presiding.

The agenda will include presentation of the club's 1965-66 program outline, adoption of a tentative budget and final check of the member-directory information and dues payments.

Discussion also is scheduled on the coming year's plans on the BPW group's various community projects. These projects include the national award-winning NIKE Club, the Child Health Clinic, high school secretarial awards, contact work on high school "drop outs" and for the Job Opportunity Corps.

Mrs. Mary Ruth Bebout, first vice president, is general chairman of picnic arrangements. She will be assisted by Mrs. Margaret Bowen, Mrs. Patricia Kapp, Mrs. Irma Larkins and Mrs. Margaret Thompson, in addition to Miss Bibbee and Mrs. Urie.

The organ is the largest and most complicated of the musical instruments.

Medicare And Social Security

Hospital Care Is Heart Of Program

By JOHN TROAN
NEA Special Writer

Medicare is somewhat of a misnomer.

The new Social Security health - care plan for the aged could be more aptly tagged

Fifth In A Series

"Hospicare." For hospital care is the heart of this benefit program.

Basically, Medicare will provide up to 90 days of hospital care for each "spell of illness" to a person 65 or older.

A "spell of illness" begins the day a patient is admitted to a hospital or nursing home. It ends once a patient has been outside a hospital and outside a nursing home for 60 straight days.

—:—

MEDICARE won't cover the full hospital bill. The patient will have to pay the first $40. And if he stays longer than 60 days during any "spell of illness," he'll have to pay $10 for each additional day he remains in the hospital.

The patient also will have to pay for the first three pints of blood he might receive—unless he gets donors to replace the blood. After the first three pints, transfusions will be paid for by Medicare.

Coverage will apply to patients in psychiatric and tuberculosis as well as in general hospitals.

But if a patient is already in a mental or TB hospital when he becomes eligible for Medicare, the time he has spent there will be counted against the 90-day limit for a "spell of illness."

Further, no person will be able to draw, during his lifetime, more than a total of 190 days of care in a psychiatric hospital.

—:—

A SPECIAL provision applies to Christian Science sanitoriums operated or certified by the First Church of Christ, Scientist in Boston.

Medicare will cover up to 120 days of care for a single stay in such an institution, with the patient paying the first $40, plus $10 for each day after the first 60 and $5 for each day after the first 90.

Medicare also will cover persons who go to a hospital on a non - overnight basis for X-rays and other diagnostic tests. Such "outpatients" will have to pay the first $20 for services rendered in any 20-day period, plus one-fifth of the balance.

The initial "deductibles" will be in effect through 1968. After that, they may be raised each year if necessary to keep pace with increasing hospital costs.

—:—

HOSPITAL benefits, which start July 1, 1966, include:

A semi - private room (two to four beds), though a doctor may order a private room for "medical reasons."

Regular hospital nurses (but not private - duty nurses).

Services of the hospital's medical social workers.

Use of regular hospital equipment, supplies and appliances, such as oxygen tents, wheelchairs and crutches.

Prescribed drugs which are approved by the hospital's medical staff or by any one of four "medical Bibles" specified in the law.

Services of hospital residents and interns — doctors — getting on-the-job experience under approved training programs.

Services of other physicians will not be covered by the basic Medicare plan.

For Social Security to pay anthing, however, a physician must certify it was medically necessary to put the patient in a hospital. If the patient stays longer than 19 days, the doctor will have to recertify need for continued hospital care at intervals specified by the government.

—:—

CARE IN a psychiatric or tuberculosis hospital will be covered only if a doctor certifies the patient needs special treatment which can be "reasonably expected to improve" his condition — or, in the case of TB, render the disease "noncommunicable." This rules out Medicare coverage for ordinary custodial care in TB and mental institutions.

In an emergency, a patient could be treated in any hospital. He could even be taken to a hospital outside the United States provided the emergency occurs in this country and the foreign hospital is "closer or substantially more accessible" than any "adequately equipped" hospital in the United States. But if the emergency arises outside the United States, Medicare won't pay.

In non - emergency cases, Social Security will pay only if the patient goes to a hospital which signs a Medicare agreement with the federal government.

To do this a hospital must subscribe to a physician - controlled "utilization review" committee which will check on admissions to prevent needless use of hospital facilities and services.

Psychiatric and TB hospitals also must be approved by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, a professional rating agency. Other hospitals must be so accredited or prove they meet standards similar to those required for such "accreditation."

Next: Nursing home benefits.

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN loving memory of our foster brother, Hallie Eagle, who passed away 1 year ago today.
God took him home, it was His will, But in our hearts we love him still. His memory is as dear today, As in the hour he passed away. We often sit and think of him, When we are all alone. For memory is the only friend, That grief can call its own.
Your Foster Family.

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN loving memory of our foster brother, Hallie Eagle, who passed away 1 year ago today.
God took him home, it was His will, But in our hearts we love him still. His memory is as dear today, As in the hour he passed away, We often sit and think of him, When we are all alone, For memory is the only friend, That grief can call its own.
Your Foster Family.

"Note the sound construction and sturdy foundation, ma'am."

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, Aug. 6, the 218th day of 1965. There are 147 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, a U.S. B29 dropped our first atomic bomb — on Hiroshima, Japan. More than half the city was reduced to ashes; more than 78,000 persons were killed and some 200,000 others were casualties.

On this date

In 1763, British troops were victorous in the Battle of Bushy Run, near Pittsburgh. It was the first engagement since Braddock's defeat.

In 1778, Conrad Alexandre Gerard of France, the first foreign minister to come to the United States from a European power, was received by Congress.

In 1926, Gertrude Ederle became the first woman to swim the English Channel.

In 1937, the United States signed a trade agreement with Russia.

In 1943, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced the U.S. victory at Munda, New Georgia.

Ten years ago — Leftist organizations in Japan demonstrated against plans to expand American air bases in their homeland.

Five years ago — The State Department announced that two missing employes, traced to Mexico and Cuba, had no access to classified information about U.S. weapons or defense plans.

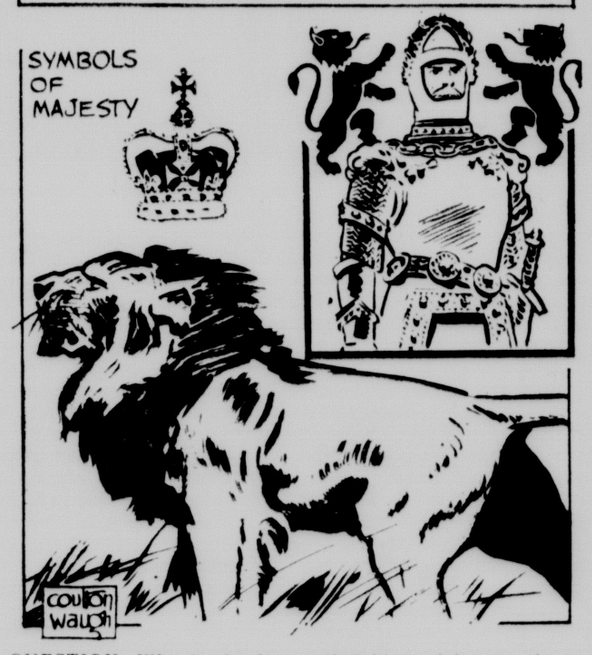

One year ago — President Johnson conferred with U.N. Secretary-General U Thant in the White House in a private meeting.

Odd Facts

The nations south of the U.S. are called Latin America because their prevailing languages are of Latin origin.

The tortoise, which often can live as long as 450 years, is the longest-living animal.

Junior Editors Quiz on ANIMALS

QUESTION: Why is the lion called king of beasts, since the tiger is stronger?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: When the first chieftains took over the power of command in ancient tribes, they were probably able to do so because they were the most powerful and aggressive individuals. Later, the idea came that the king, besides being a powerful man, was a representative of God and so possessed of power which raised him above all other people. Look at the statue of King Arthur in upper right. He was a legendary rather than an actual king, but notice the kingly look the sculptor has given him. One would hardly walk up and start talking to him as if he were an ordinary man. One wouldn't walk up to that lion below and start petting him, either. The lion has the most kingly, the most haughty look, of all animals. He holds his head high, as if wanting to display the splendor of his heavy mane. And every ounce of that short stocky body spells strength. A lion can break a zebra's neck with a single blow of one of his huge paws. While it is true that a tiger is somewhat stronger, the tiger does not have the imperial, royal look of the lion. Also, the tiger is an inhabitant of India and Western China, rather than countries where kings began to exercise power such as Egypt and Assyria. So it was natural for the lion, living in these countries, to represent the idea of kingliness.

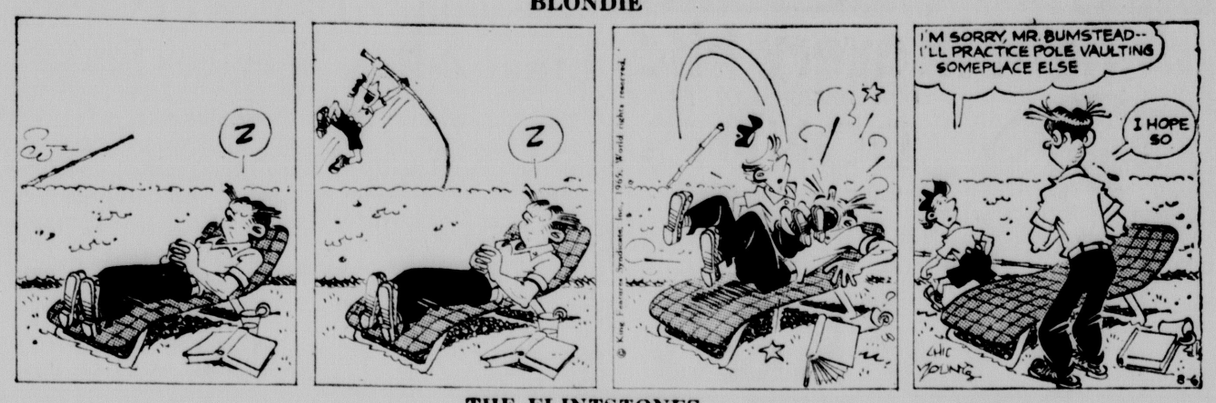

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Make a drawing of a lion looking very regal, with a crown actually on his head. Color him a tawny yellow.

★ ★ ★

Missionary Day Will Close; Final 2-Day Services Set

The closing services of "Missionary Day" will be held tonight at 7:30 during the camp meeting at Hollow Rock.

Dr. John R. Church will preach Saturday night.

The 128th annual meeting will come to a close Sunday, with the following schedule of services: 9 a.m., Bible study, Dr. O. C. Weigel; 10 a.m., sermon, Dr. Church; 2:30 p.m., missionary rally, Dr. Eugene A. Erny, and 7:30 p.m., sermon, Dr. E. W. Martin.

Dr. Weigel delivered the message last night, with his text "Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many."

Selections were presented by the Ambassador male quartet, the Smith-Mackey mixed quartet and the Bethel College men's quartet. The choir sang "He Gives Me Beauty for Ashes."

Pen-O-Va Chapter of Asbury College alumni held a supper meeting at the camp grounds, with 46 members present, including 25 pastors for the tri-state area and two missionaries.

President - Elect Karl K. Wilson of the college spoke and Prof. Serrott of the Christian Education Department outlined plans for the future.

Wallace Stanley was elected chapter secretary for the coming year.

Recognition Received By Women Of Moose

East Liverpool Chapter 642, Women of the Moose, is among those receiving recognition for contributions to the Ohio Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., which made it possible for handicapped men and women of Ohio to enjoy outdoor vacations at Camp Pittenger, near Tiffin, this summer.

The project among Moose members was initiated by Richard C. Wolfe of Dover, civic affairs chairman for the lodge.

Other area chapters who took part in the program were East Palestine Chapter 532 and Steubenville Chapter 586.

'Pap' Test's Value Cited In Cancer Fight

LISBON — In addition to the newly - formed county cancer detection clinic, there is also the American Cancer Society's Columbiana County unit, which provides the "Pap" test," designed for the early detection of uterine cancer in women.

Dr. William A. Kolozsi, medical adviser of the local ACS organization, called the "Pap" test a major weapon in helping to avert uterine cancer deaths and said it represents an investment that was paid off heavily in saving lives.

Developed by and named for the late Dr. George N. Papanicolaou, the "Pap" test is based on the study of cells which are shed normally from living tissue.

Early detection can give a physician the opportunity to begin prompt treatment to effect cure before the cancer has a chance to do any damage, Dr. Kolozsi explained.

He stressed that the examination is simple and painless and over a period of 25 years has reduced the death rate from uterine cancer by 50 per cent.

Dr. Kolozsi said that with the opening of the new cancer detection clinic, "women of Columbiana County have an unparalleled opportunity and should not hesitate to ask for the examination."

New Horse Barn To Be Set For County Fair's Opening

LISBON — A large new barn on the Columbiana County fairgrounds will be completed in time for the 120th annual exposition here Aug. 25-29.

Measuring 64 by 96 feet, the barn will be used for horses and ponies — the largest department of the fair. It will have 32 box stalls — eight in four rows the length of the building. There will be two 10-foot alleyways between the outside and inside stalls.

Each end of the building has two 12-foot doors. Fiberglass windows run the length of the sides and the ridge has a special arrangement for ventilation in addition to the louvered windows in the gable ends.

The building, of pole construction, was erected by the Peoples Lumber Co. of Columbiana at a cost of $8,400 for the painted shell.

Lloyd Brunner, manager for Peoples, is supervising the interior construction and hopes to have the box stalls completed this week.

A committee comprised of fair board members Ike Skeels, William Werner and Ben Weingart will arrange for plumbing and electrical work within the next few days.

Selections were presented by the Ambassador male quartet, the Smith-Mackey mixed quartet and the Bethel College men's quartet. The choir sang "He Gives Me Beauty for Ashes."

'Pap' Test's Value Cited In Cancer Fight

LISBON — In addition to the newly - formed county cancer detection clinic, there is also the American Cancer Society's Columbiana County unit, which provides the "Pap" test," designed for the early detection of uterine cancer in women.

Dr. William A. Kolozsi, medical adviser of the local ACS organization, called the "Pap" test a major weapon in helping to avert uterine cancer deaths and said it represents an investment that was paid off heavily in saving lives.

Developed by and named for the late Dr. George N. Papanicolaou, the "Pap" test is based on the study of cells which are shed normally from living tissue.

Early detection can give a physician the opportunity to begin prompt treatment to effect cure before the cancer has a chance to do any damage, Dr. Kolozsi explained.

He stressed that the examination is simple and painless and over a period of 25 years has reduced the death rate from uterine cancer by 50 per cent.

Dr. Kolozsi said that with the opening of the new cancer detection clinic, "women of Columbiana County have an unparalleled opportunity and should not hesitate to ask for the examination."

New Horse Barn To Be Set For County Fair's Opening

LISBON — A large new barn on the Columbiana County fairgrounds will be completed in time for the 120th annual exposition here Aug. 25-29.

Measuring 64 by 96 feet, the barn will be used for horses and ponies — the largest department of the fair. It will have 32 box stalls — eight in four rows the length of the building. There will be two 10-foot alleyways between the outside and inside stalls.

Each end of the building has two 12-foot doors. Fiberglass windows run the length of the sides and the ridge has a special arrangement for ventilation in addition to the louvered windows in the gable ends.

The building, of pole construction, was erected by the Peoples Lumber Co. of Columbiana at a cost of $8,400 for the painted shell.

Lloyd Brunner, manager for Peoples, is supervising the interior construction and hopes to have the box stalls completed this week.

A committee comprised of fair board members Ike Skeels, William Werner and Ben Weingart will arrange for plumbing and electrical work within the next few days.
